SOUPS AND STOCKS.

Stock is the foundation of most soups. It requires special care in preparing to produce a good soup. Long and slow cooking are the chief essentials to extract the nutriment and gelatine from the meat and bones used. Stocks should not be too highly flavoured with vegetables, herbs or spices, should be strained through a fine strainer, and be allowed to go cold, so that the fat may be removed before using them for soups and sauces.

Shin of beef stock is generally used for clear and good brown soups; knuckle of veal for good white soups. A well-made bone stock does excellently for most thick and vegetable soups or sauces, as does what is termed "second stock".

FIRST STOCK. 4

No. 1.

of veal. 1 carrot.	2 lb. shin of beef or knuckle	1 dessertspoon sal
	of veal.	1 carrot.
6 pints cold water. 1 turnip.	6 pints cold water.	1 turnip.
6 peppercorns. 1 onion.	6 peppercorns.	1 onion.
1 sprig of parsley. 1 sprig thyme.	1 sprig of parsley.	1 sprig thyme.

Cut the meat up into pieces about an inch square, removing the fat; saw the bones into pieces. Put the meat and bones into a large pan, add the water and salt, bring to the boil, draw off the fire and skim away every particle of scum; add the vegetables, cleaned and cut in halves, with the flavourings; place on the stove, where it will only simmer very gently for 4 hours.

Stock should never be allowed to boil, or it becomes thick and a bad colour. Strain, and when cold remove the fat (this is best done with a spoon), and then wipe the surface of the jelly with a clean hot cloth. It is then ready for use.

BONE STOCK.

No. 2.

4 lb. fresh meat bones.

2 carrots.

2 turnips.

1 sprig parsley.

1 tablespoon salt.

5 quarts water.

2 onions.

6 peppercorns.

1 sprig thyme.

Wash the bones and cut away any fat or discoloured pieces of meat; then proceed exactly as in the preceding recipe, only allowing 5 or 6 hours simmering according to the size of the bones.

SECOND STOCK.

No. 3.

Cooked or uncooked bones.

Cold water. 2 carrots.

2 turnips.

Scraps of cooked or uncooked

2 onions.

Salt and pepper.

For second stock, a large pan of cold water should be put on the stove, and into it should be thrown any of the above scraps to be used up. Strainings from first stock, soups or sauces can all be made use of in this way. The ingredients should all simmer gently together for 2 or 3 hours, and the stock then finished off as in the preceding recipes.

N.B.—Only enough stock of this kind should be made for each day's use, as it becomes sour if boiled over and over again.

ASPARAGUS SOUP.

No. 4.

25 heads of asparagus.

11 oz. butter.

13 pints stock (No. 2).

3 pint of milk. 2 yolks of egg.

1 onion.

11 oz. flour.

1 small bay leaf. 1 sprig parsley.

Salt and pepper.

Cut off the asparagus tops and cook them separately in a little boiling salted water for about 10 minutes, taking care not to break them; drain and put them into the tureen. Cut the stalks into short lengths, slice the onion, fry these in the butter slowly for 10 minutes with the parsley and bay leaf, add the flour and cook it a little, stir in the stock a little at a time off the fire, season and simmer the soup gently, first stirring it to the boil, for 1 hour. Pass it through a hair sieve, reheat with the milk, stir in the yolks mixed with a little cold stock, and cook gently for 5 or 10 minutes. Strain on to the asparagus heads.

ARTICHOKE SOUP.

No. 5.

2 lb. Jerusalem artichokes.

1 small onion.

doz. flour.

14 pints stock (No. 2).

pint milk.

1 oz. butter.

1 dessertspoon of lemon juice.

Salt and cayenne pepper.

To make this soup a good colour, great care must be taken in preparing the artichokes. They should be as fresh as possible, and a little lemon juice or vinegar put in the water in which they are peeled. Keep them under water as much as possible.

simmer gently until the vegetables are soft. Pass through a hair sieve, washing the pulp through with the milk, reheat, and the soup is ready to serve. Serve with fried bread.

BONE SOUP. 4/2

No. 6.

2 lb. small fresh meat bones.

2 oz. dripping.

1 stick celery. 2 onions.

6 peppercorns.

1 sprig parsley.

Salt and pepper.

3 pints water.

2 carrots.

2 turnips.

2 oz. flour or cornflour.

1 sprig thyme.

Make the dripping smoking hot in a stewpan; wash, dry and cut off the fat and discoloured pieces from the bones, fry them briskly to a good brown colour in the fat, drain them as they are done, pour off the dripping, put the bones into the pan again with the cold water and a dessertspoon of salt; bring to the boil and skim thoroughly; add the vegetables cut into quarters, also the flavourings; simmer the soup gently for 4 hours; strain and let go cold; skim off all fat; bring the soup to the boil, stir the cornflour or flour to a smooth cream with a little cold water, add to the soup and boil for 5 or 10 minutes. A few drops of caramel must be added to make the soup a good colour. Serve with sippets of toast.

BARLEY SOUP.

No. 7.

2 oz. pearl barley. 1 oz. butter.

Salt and pepper.

3 pints stock (No. 3).

1 oz. flour. 1 onion.

1 wineglass sherry.

Blanch the barley (No. 425); melt the butter and fry the onion sliced, and the flour brown in it; take it off the fire and stir in the stock by degrees; season and boil the soup, add the barley; simmer by the side of the fire slowly for about 2 hours; then pass through a wire sieve, reheat, and add the sherry. Serve with fried bread.

BROWN VEGETABLE SOUP. 1 &

No. 8.

1½ oz. butter.	$1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. flour.
1 quart stock (No. 3).	1 carrot.
1 sprig parsley.	1 turnip.
1 sprig thyme.	1 onion.
Salt and pepper.	6 peppercorns.
2 oz. macaroni.	1 stick celery.

Make the butter hot in a saucepan; cut the vegetables into very thin, small slices and fry them in the butter with the parsley, thyme and peppercorns for 10 minutes; stirring them, add the flour, fry it a few minutes, add the stock a little at a time, season and stir to the boil. Allow the soup to simmer gently for 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Pass through a hair sieve and reheat.

Boil the macaroni (No. 423), cut it into short lengths, diamond-shaped, put them into the tureen and pour the boiling soup over.

CRESSY SOUP. 2

No. 9.

4 good red carrots.	1 small stick celery.
1 onion.	1 oz. butter.
1 quart stock (No. 2).	Salt and pepper.
1 sprig parsley.	1 dessertspoon cornflour.
4 nint milk	*

Grate the carrots, slice the onion and celery; dissolve the butter and stir the vegetables in it over a slow fire with the parsley and seasoning for 10 minutes; add the stock and boil the soup gently for 1½ to 2 hours. Pass through a wire or hair sieve, bring to the boil again and stir in the cornflour, mixed into a smooth cream with the milk; boil for 2 or 3 minutes longer. Serve with fried bread.

N.B.—Grating the carrots will make the soup a much nicer colour than slicing them.

CABBAGE SOUP.

No. 10.

1 nice savoy.	1½ pints stock (No. 2)
1 oz. butter.	1 onion.
1 oz. flour.	Salt and pepper.
+ pint milk.

Thoroughly clean the cabbage and soak it in water for half an hour, cut away the hard stalk from the heart and back of the leaves, and shred up the leaves into fine strips an inch long; throw these into a large pan of boiling salted water in which there is a small piece of soda and boil fast for 5 minutes (this is to draw out the colour and strong flavour of the cabbage).

Chop the onion finely and put it into a saucepan with the stock, milk, butter and seasoning; bring to the boil; well drain the shredded cabbage in a colander and put it into the stock; boil the soup gently for half an hour. Mix the flour to a cream with a little cold milk, add this to the soup and boil for 5 minutes, stirring. This soup may also be thickened with sago for a change. Serve with fried bread.

CELERY SOUP.

No. 11.

1 head white celery.	1 quart stock (No. 2).
$1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. butter.	½ pint milk.
$1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. flour.	Seasoning.
d pint cream.	A few drops of lemon.

Scrape the celery very white and cut it up; boil the stock and cook the celery in it until it is quite soft, adding the lemon juice to preserve the colour.

Dissolve the butter, cook the flour in it without browning, stir to this the stock and celery by degrees, boil up stirring, and pass through a hair sieve; reheat with the milk and cream if liked. Serve with fried bread.

CUCUMBER SOUP.

No. 12.

1 medium sized cucumber.
1 onion.

Salt and pepper.
1 pints stock (No. 2).

1 oz. butter.
1 oz. flour.
2 pint milk.
1 teaspoon sugar.

Slice the cucumber without peeling it, slice the onion; dissolve the butter and cook the vegetables in it for a few minutes with the sugar and seasoning; stir in the flour and cook a little, then the stock; stir to the boil; simmer the soup gently until the cucumber is quite tender. Pass through a hair sieve, add the milk and reheat. Serve with fried bread.

CHEESE SOUP.

No. 13.

1 quart stock (No. 1).

4 pint cream.
1 oz. butter.
1 onion.
2 oz. Parmesan cheese.
Savoury custard.
6 white peppercorns.
Yolks of two eggs.
1 oz. flour.
1 stick celery.
1 sprig parsley.
Salt and pepper.

Melt the butter, slice the celery and onion, and fry very slowly in the butter with the parsley and peppercorns (do not allow them to brown); cook the flour a little, next; add the stock by degrees off the fire; simmer gently about 1 hour; strain the soup; mix together the cheese grated, the eggs and cream, add to the soup and stir over a slow fire for 5 minutes, taking care it does not boil, or it will curdle. Have some savoury custard (No. 199) cut into dice in the tureen, and pour the soup gently over.

FRENCH VEGETABLE SOUP.

No. 14.

1 carrot.	1 stick celery.
1 turnip.	1 lettuce.
1 onion.	1 small cucumber.
1 bay leaf.	Salt and pepper.
1 oz. butter.	1½ pints stock (Nos. 1 or 2).
½ pint milk.	1 teaspoon castor sugar.

Thoroughly clean all the vegetables, and shred them into very fine lengths about one inch; throw them into separate cold waters to keep them quite clean; drain well; dissolve the butter, add the shredded vegetables, sugar, bay leaf and seasoning; put them over a slow fire and cook them for about 15 minutes with the lid on, taking care they do not break up; boil the stock and pour over them, mix the flour smooth with the milk, add to the soup, boil gently for 5 or 6 minutes and serve.

N.B.—Any vegetable in season except beet can be used. The more variety the better.

GAME SOUP.

No. 15.

The carcases and trimmings from one or two pheasants or partridges.

1 dessertspoon red currant jelly.

1 dessertspoon port wine.

Seasoning.

1 oz. flour.

1 sprig parsley.

6 peppercorns.

1 quart stock (No. 3).

1 strip orange rind.

1 oz. butter.

Break up the game bones and put them into a stewpan with the onion sliced, orange, parsley, thyme, peppercorns and seasoning, pour over them the stock and a few drops of caramel (No. 418); simmer these gently for one hour, strain and take off any fat with kitchen paper; dissolve the butter in the pan, fry the flour brown in it, add the game stock and stir to the boil, put in the wine and jelly, and strain into the tureen, in which there should be some small poached or egged and crumbed forcemeat balls (No. 180).

GIBLET SOUP.

No. 16.

2 sets of chicken or duck giblets.
1 sprig parsley.
1 sprig thyme.
6 peppercorns.
1 quart stock or water.
1 oz. flour.
1 onion.
1 carrot.
1 small clove garlic.
1 strip lemon rind.
1 stick celery.
1 oz. butter.
Caramel (No. 418).

Slice the giblets and vegetables, make the butter hot and fry them in it with the flavourings for about ten minutes; stir in the flour and the stock or water, season and stir to the boil; simmer gently for about 2 hours, pour off the soup, pound the giblets to a paste in the mortar, then pass the whole through a wire sieve; reheat and serve with sippets of toast.

HARE SOUP.

No. 17.

1 small hare.	2 onions.
2 carrots.	1 turnip.
1 stick celery.	2 quarts water.
12 peppercorns.	1 sprig parsley.
3 cloves.	1 sprig thyme.
1 gill port wine.	1 small bay leaf.
Salt.	2 oz. butter.
1 tablespoon red currant jelly.	3 oz. flour.
Pepper.

Take off the fillets and one or two slices from the lean part of the legs; these can be used for an entrée (No. 77). Make the butter hot, cut up the hare into pieces; slice the vegetables; fry these with the herbs and spices, with the lid on the pan, for about 15 minutes; add the water, salt and pepper; simmer gently until the hare is quite tender (about 2 hours), pound the meat in a mortar, and then sieve all the soup together. Bring to the boil, stir the flour smooth with cold water, cook in the soup for 10 minutes; add the red currant jelly and port wine. Serve with forcemeat balls egged and crumbed (No. 180).

N.B.—The soup may be thickened with cornflour instead of flour.

JULIENNE SOUP.

No. 18.

1 quart stock (No. 1).
1 carrot.
1 turnip.
1 leek. $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. lean beef.
1 stick celery.
1 small lettuce.
Seasoning.

Slice the vegetables very thinly, and then shred them finely into inch lengths; boil them each in separate salted boiling waters till just tender, but not enough to break them; drain them well, and put them into the soup tureen.

Remove all fat and skin from the beef; scrape it finely, put it into a very clean stewpan with the stock, and whisk them over the fire to the boil; take out the whisk, draw the pan to the side, ease the lid on it, and simmer the soup gently for 10 or 15 minutes. Place a scalded linen cloth over the soup-stand, pour the soup through it gently twice, when it should be quite clear. Very carefully reheat it, and pour over the vegetables in the tureen.

N.B.—One or two shredded tarragon leaves are a great improvement to this soup.

JULIENNE SOUP (THICK).

No. 19.

$1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. butter.	1 quart stock (No. 2)
$1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. flour.	1 onion.
1 sprig parsley.	1 carrot.
1 sprig thyme.	1 turnip.
6 peppercorns.	Seasoning.

Shred and cook the carrot and turnip as in the previous recipe; put them into the tureen. Heat the butter, fry the onion sliced with the herbs and spices to a light brown, add flour and fry also; stir in the stock off the fire, season and boil; simmer gently about half an hour, then strain over the shredded vegetables.

Leeks are nice in this soup when in season.

KIDNEY SOUP.

No. 20.

2 sheep's kidneys.	½ lb. fillet steak.
1 oz. butter.	1 sprig parsley.
1 oz. rice.	1 onion.
1 quart water.	Seasoning.

Skin the kidneys, take away the fat from the beef and cut both into small pieces; heat the butter in a saucepan, put in the meat, kidneys, onions sliced, parsley, and fry for about 10 minutes over a brisk fire; wash and add the rice, stock and seasoning; simmer very gently for 2 hours, stirring frequently to prevent the rice sticking to the pan; pass all through a wire sieve; reheat, and serve with sippets of toast.

LEEK SOUP.

No. 21.

6 leeks.

1 oz. butter.

1 oz. flour.

½ pint milk.

1½ pints stock (No. 2). Salt and cayenne pepper.

Cut off the green part of the leeks and shred it.

Cut off the green part of the leeks and shred it into fine inch lengths; boil till tender 5 or 10 minutes in boiling salted water, drain and put into the tureen. Slice up the leeks; dissolve the butter; cook them for 5 or 6 minutes without browning; cook the flour next a little; add the stock by degrees and boil; simmer until the leeks are tender 30 minutes; pass through a hair sieve, add the milk and reheat, pour over the shredded leeks. Serve with fried bread.

LENTIL SOUP.

No. 22.

pint lentils.

1 carrot.

1 turnip.
1 onion.

Seasoning.

3 pints water or stock (No. 3).

1 sprig parsley.

1 oz. lean bacon.

1 stick celery.

Wash the lentils in several waters and soak them over night; grate the carrot and turnip; cut up the bacon, celery and onion small. Put all the ingredients together into a stewpan and simmer the soup gently for 2 hours, stirring occasionally; pass through a hair sieve, reheat, and serve with dice of fried bread.

N.B.—Only enough water should be used to well cover the lentils in soaking, and this is used in the soup. If the soup becomes too thick with the long stewing, add a little more water. Haricot bean or pea soups are made in the same way.

LIVER SOUP.

No. 23.

3 lb. calf's liver.	1 oz. bacon (fat).
1 carrot.	1 sprig parsley.
1 turnip.	1 sprig thyme.
1 onion.	6 peppercorns.
1 oz. rice.	1 quart stock (No. 3).
Seasoning.

Cut the bacon small and dissolve it in a stewpan; cut the liver and vegetables into small squares, fry these with the herbs and spice briskly for 10 minutes; add stock, rice and seasoning; cook very slowly for 2 hours, stirring occasionally. Take out the parsley and thyme and pour into the tureen, or the soup may all be passed through a wire sieve.

MULLAGATAWNY SOUP.

No. 24.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. butter. 1 oz. flour.

1 oz. curry powder.

1 large onion.

1 carrot.

1 teaspoon sugar.

1 sprig parsley.

1 sprig thyme. Salt and pepper. 1 apple.

1 tomato.

1 oz. desiccated cocoanut.

1 turnip.

1 stick celery.

1 dessertspoon lemon juice.

3 pints stock (No. 2).

6 peppercorns.

Chop all the vegetables up small; dissolve the butter; fry the vegetables, herbs, spice, flour and curry powder for 10 or 15 minutes; take off the fire, stir in the stock by degrees, bring to the boil stirring, add the apple chopped, tomato cut up, sugar and cocoanut; season and simmer gently for 2 hours, stirring frequently to prevent the soup burning; pass through a hair sieve, add lemon, reheat. Serve with freely boiled rice (No. 422).

MARROW SOUP.

No. 25.

1 medium sized vegetable	1 oz. butter.
marrow.	1 oz. flour.
1 small onion.	½ pint milk.
1½ pints stock (No. 2).	Salt and pepper.

Peel and slice the marrow and onion, melt the butter, put in marrow and onion with seasoning, stir over a slow fire for 5 or 6 minutes; add stock and simmer gently for 30 to 40 minutes; pass through a hair sieve, bring the soup to the boil again with the milk; mix the flour smooth with cold milk and stir in; cook for 3 or 4 minutes longer. Serve with fried bread.

OX TAIL SOUP.

No. 26.

1 ox tail.	2 carrots.
$\frac{3}{4}$ lb. lean beef.	2 turnips.
12 peppercorns.	2 onions.
1 bay leaf.	2 sticks celery
1 sprig parsley.	3 cloves.
1 sprig thyme.	2 oz. butter.
3 or 4 quarts water.	4 oz. flour.
Seasoning.

Blanch the tail by covering it with cold water in a stewpan; give it one boil up over the fire, take it out and dry it on a clean cloth; joint it up and take away any superfluous fat from the root end. Cut up the beef, also vegetables into thick slices; make the butter smoking hot in a stewpan, put in the pieces of tail, beef, vegetables, herbs and spices; fry well for about 15 minutes with the pan lid on and shake about, add the water and a tablespoon of salt; bring to the boil and skim very thoroughly, then simmer gently for from 4 to 5 hours according to the thickness of the tail (it should be quite tender without being raggy); strain through a hair sieve; allow the soup to go cold, then take off the fat, take 3 oz. of it and make smoking hot; stir in the flour and fry brown; add to this the soup by degrees; stir to the boil. Pass the pieces of tail through warm water to clear them of vegetable and fat; heat them through gently in the soup, and serve.

POTATO SOUP.

No. 27.

1 lb. potatoes.

1 onion.
1 turnip.

1 oz. butter.

Salt and pepper.

1 stick celery.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ pint stock (No. 2).

 $\frac{1}{2}$ pint milk.

1 oz. small sago.

Dissolve the butter in a stewpan (do not allow it to brown or it will discolour the soup); thoroughly clean the vegetables, rinsing them twice; slice them and fry in the butter with the seasoning 5 or 6 minutes slowly; add the stock and simmer gently till the vegetables are quite soft, about 1 hour, stirring frequently; pass through a hair sieve, add the milk, bring to the boil again, shake in the sago and boil till it turns clear, stirring all the time. Serve with small squares of fried bread. The soup can be thickened with flour instead of sago if preferred.

RICE SOUP.

No. 28.

2 oz. Carolina rice. 1 oz. butter.

1½ pint stock (No. 3).

Seasoning.

1 onion.

1 oz. bread crumbs.

1 tablespoon chopped parsley (No. 432).

 $\frac{1}{2}$ pint milk.

Put the stock into a stewpan with the rice washed, the onion sliced, butter and seasoning; simmer very gently for about 1 hour, or until the rice is perfectly soft, then put in the milk and breadcrumbs; boil 5 minutes longer, put the parsley in the tureen and pour the soup over it.

N.B.—The soup may be passed through a sieve if liked, and if it becomes a little too thick, add more stock.

SHIN OF BEEF SOUP.

No. 29.

1 carrot.
1 turnip.
1 onion.
2 cloves.
1 stick celery.
1 sprig thyme

Remove any fat from the meat and cut it into small pieces, put it into a stewpan with the salt and cold water, bring to the boil and skim thoroughly; clean the vegetables, cut them in halves (not in small pieces, or they mash up and make the soup cloudy and thick); add these, with the flavourings and a few drops of caramel (No. 418); simmer the soup very gently for 2 hours, strain and let it get cold; remove the fat, put the soup back into the saucepan, bring to the boil, and shake in the sago, stirring the while; boil gently till the sago turns clear 5 or 6 minutes. Serve with sippets of dry toast.

N.B.—Cooked macaroni cut into short lengths, or fancifully cut, and cooked vegetables might be put into the soup for a garnish instead of the sago, or savoury custard (No. 199).

ST. GERMAIN SOUP.

No. 30.

½ pint dried green peas.

1½ oz. butter.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. flour.

1 quart stock (No. 2).

No. 30.

2 large sprigs mint.

A few drops green colouring.

Salt and pepper.

Wash and soak the peas over night, picking out the discoloured ones; boil them in enough cold water to cover them, with the mint, and a small piece of fat to help to soften them, until they are quite tender 2 to 3 hours; drain and pass them through a hair sieve; dissolve the butter, cook the flour in it a few minutes, take off the fire, and stir in the stock and seasoning, boil up, stirring all the time; then whisk the green pea pulp in, add colouring if necessary, and boil up the soup. Serve with fried bread.

SCOTCH BROTH.

No. 31.

1 lb. middle neck of mutton.

1 carrot.

1 turnip.

1 onion.

1 dessertspoon of salt.

1 dessertspoon chopped parsley (No. 432).

3 pints water.

1 sprig parsley.

1 sprig thyme.

1 oz. pearl barley.

Small suet dumplings.

Pepper.

Take away the fat and marrow from the meat and cut it into pieces about an inch square; joint up the bones, put them, with the meat, into a saucepan, cover with the cold water, add the salt and bring to the boil. Directly the scum rises—which will be at boiling-point—draw the broth off the fire and skim it well. Have the vegetables cleaned and cut into small dice, and the barley blanched (No. 425), which add to the broth, with parsley, thyme and pepper; stew all slowly together for about 2 hours, until meat and barley are quite tender, and the broth nice and thick.

Half an hour before serving put in the dumplings, take out the parsley, thyme and bones, pour the soup over the chopped parsley in the tureen. For the dumplings, take:-

6 oz. flour.

1 teaspoon salt.

2 oz. suet. Cold water.

Skin, shred and chop the suet very finely, using the flour to do it with; add the salt, and mix up into a stiff paste with the water. Make up into very small dumplings, rolling them smooth lightly in the hands.

SPINACH SOUP.

No. 32.

 1½-2 lb. spinach.
 1 small onion.

 1 oz. butter.
 1 small blade mace.

 1 oz. flour.
 1½ pints stock (No. 2).

 Salt and pepper.
 1 tablespoon cream.

The amount of spinach in this soup must depend a little on the size of it—if quite young and small, take 2 lb.; if large, $1\frac{1}{2}$ lb. will do. Thoroughly clean the spinach, rinsing it in several waters, and draw off the stalks right down the back of the leaves; put it into a large saucepan, and sprinkle it with salt; allow it to cook down slowly till quite tender, about 15 minutes; drain it and pass it through a wire sieve.

Melt the butter and cook the onion, sliced in it with the mace, for 3 or 4 minutes without browning, then cook the flour a little; take off the fire and add the stock and seasoning, boil up and strain, add the purée of spinach with a teaspoon of sugar and the cream; reheat and serve with fried bread.

SPRING SOUP.

No. 33.

1 cauliflower.

2 leeks.

½ head of celery. Salt and pepper.

2 thin slices of bread and butter.

1 carrot.
1 turnip.
1 onion.

3 pints stock (No. 1).

1 small bay leaf.

Have the stock boiling in a saucepan, nicely seasoned, and colour it with a few drops of caramel to a pale sherry colour; break the cauliflower into small sprigs, throw them into a pan of boiling salted water for 3 minutes and drain (this is to draw out the strong flavour); shred the other vegetables into fine lengths an inch long. Put all into the boiling stock with the bayleaf and boil gently for 15 or 20 minutes, until they are quite tender but not broken. Take out the bayleaf; cut the bread and butter into rounds the size of a shilling with a pastry cutter, place them on a baking sheet in the oven, bake them a golden colour 5 or 6 minutes. Put these into the soup tureen and pour the boiling soup over them. Serve at once.

THICK WHITE SOUP (I.).

No. 34.

13 oz. butter.

13 oz. flour.

} pint milk.

1 pints stock (No. 2).

1 onion.

1 small blade mace.

1 sprig parsley.

Salt and pepper.

Dissolve the butter in a saucepan; slice the onion very thin and fry it with the mace and parsley for 3 or 4 minutes (do not allow it to brown); then add flour and fry it a minute or so to make the soup smooth and shiny; take off the fire and stir in the stock and milk, a little at a time; stir to the boil, and simmer gently for half an hour. Strain and serve with grated cheese.

THICK WHITE SOUP (II.).

No. 35.

(With Forcemeat Balls.)

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. butter.

1½ oz. flour. Salt and pepper. 1½ pints stock (No. 2).

½ pint milk.

 $2~{\rm yolks}$ of eggs.

Melt the butter and cook the flour in it for a few minutes without browning it; take off the fire, add stock by degrees and stir to the boil, first seasoning the soup; mix the yolks well with the milk and stir into the soup very slowly, so as not to curdle the eggs; cook slowly for 5 minutes; strain into the tureen, containing some small forcemeat balls.

For the balls take:-

2 oz. bread crumbs.

1 dessertspoon finely chopped parsley.

½ teaspoon chopped thyme.

½ oz. butter.
Salt and cayenne pepper.
½ teaspoon grated lemon.
Beaten egg.

Rub the butter well into the breadcrumbs; add the parsley, thyme, lemon and seasoning, and bind the mixture into a stiff paste with the egg. Make up into balls the size of a small marble, poach them gently in some simmering salted water for 3 or 4 minutes; drain on a cloth, and put them into the soup tureen.

TOMATO SOUP (I.).

No. 36.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. bacon.

½ oz. butter.

1 sprig parsley.

1 sprig thyme. 6 peppercorns.

d peppercorns.

d lb. fresh tomatoes.

1 oz. small sago.

1 carrot.

1 turnip.

1 onion. 1 stick celery.

Salt and pepper.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ pints stock (No. 2).

Take the rind and salted edge from the bacon, cut it into small pieces and dissolve it with the butter in a stewpan (do not allow it to brown, or it will take off the nice red colour of the soup); slice the vegetables small and thin and fry them with the parsley, thyme and peppercorns for 10 minutes, slowly stirring them well about, add the tomatoes sliced, stock and seasoning; simmer all gently for $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 hours; pass through a hair sieve, bring again to the boil, shake in the sago and boil gently, stirring until the sago turns clear. Serve with fried bread.

TOMATO SOUP (II.).

No. 37.

1 tin tomatoes.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. cornflour.

1 oz. butter.

1 pint stock (No. 2).

1 pint milk.

½ teaspoon carbonate soda.

Salt and pepper.

Pass the tin of tomatoes through a hair sieve into a basin, stir the soda into the purée, cover the basin and let it stand by for half an hour (this will take off the acidity of the tomatoes); boil the stock and milk together; mix the cornflour into a smooth cream with a little milk; pour on the boiling stock, return to the saucepan and boil for 5 or 6 minutes, stirring well; add the butter bit by bit, and when it is quite incorporated, take the soup off the fire and whisk in the tomato pulp; season and simmer the soup gently for 10 minutes longer, when it is ready to serve.

WHITE FISH SOUP.

No. 38.

1 quart stock (No. 2).

1 small carrot.

1 small turnip.

1 small onion.

Salt and pepper.

1 dessertspoon finely chopped parsley (No. 432).

2 whiting.

1 sprig parsley.

1 small bay leaf.

1 small blade mace.

2 oz. butter.

2 oz. flour.

pint milk.

Put the stock into a stewpan with the whiting cut up, the vegetables left in large blocks, seasoning, herbs and spice; simmer these gently for 1 hour, skimming well if necessary; strain through a fine strainer; dissolve the butter, cook the flour in it for 3 or 4 minutes, then stir in the stock by degrees, and milk (this is best done off the fire), boil for 5 minutes, stirring. Put the parsley into the tureen and strain the soup over. Serve with fried bread.

N.B.—About 1 dozen bearded oysters might be served in this soup.

FRIED BREAD FOR SOUPS.

No. 39.

Cut 2 or 3 slices of rather stale bread a quarter of an inch thick, or even a little less; remove the crusts, and cut the bread into tiny squares; put these into a frying basket, shake out the loose crumbs, and plunge the basket into the frying fat (which must be smoking hot); fry to a golden brown, drain well, and turn out on kitchen paper. Serve on a dish paper very hot.

FISH.

It is almost useless to put down any hard and fast rules by which to cook fish, as nearly each variety requires different treatment, either in boiling, steaming, frying or cooking in any of the various ways to send it to table in anything like perfection. So, instead, I shall endeavour in the following recipes to point out the methods best adapted to each kind.

I may, however, mention here that the cooking of fish requires the utmost care and attention—more, I think, than any other kind of food. It is easily spoilt and made hard, tasteless and indigestible—to say nothing of quickly detracting its nutritive value by careless cooking.

BOILED CODFISH.

No. 40.

Only sufficient water should be used in boiling all kinds of fish, just to cover it; a great weight of water breaks it. Have the water gently simmering in the fish-kettle or saucepan with a teaspoon of salt to each pint, also 3 drops of vinegar to each pint. Well wash the fish, and, if not using a strainer, tie it loosely in muslin; let it carefully down into the water, and simmer very gently the whole time of cooking. It should on no account boil, or it will be made tough or "woolly". Weigh the fish and allow 10 minutes to each pound and 10 minutes over, unless the fish is very thick, in which case allow a little more time. Drain the fish thoroughly, remove the muslin without breaking the skin at all; place it on a napkin, and garnish with small quarters of lemon and sprigs of parsley. Serve with oyster, shrimp, egg or parsley sauce.

BAKED CODFISH.

No. 41.

1 lb. codfish.

1 dessertspoon lemon juice.

1 pint cream sauce (No. 113).

½ oz. butter.
Salt and cayenne pepper.
Red breadcrumbs.

Spread half the butter on a baking-tin, wash and dry the fish, place it on the tin, season with salt and cayenne, and sprinkle the lemon juice over; cover with a piece of kitchen paper greased with the rest of the butter; press the paper well down over the fish to keep in the steam in cooking. Bake in a very slow oven for 20 minutes or half an hour; take off the skin, place the fish on a dish and coat over nicely with the cream sauce; garnish with red breadcrumbs and parsley.

BAKED WHITING.

No. 42.

3 small whiting.

teaspoon finely chopped onion.

Salt and cayenne.

1 tablespoon red breadcrumbs.

1 dessertspoon chopped parsley.

1 dessertspoon lemon juice.

3 pint cream sauce (No. 113).

1 oz. butter.

Spread a little of the butter on a baking-tin, place the whiting on it, sprinkle them with salt, cayenne, parsley, onion, lemon juice, and lastly red breadcrumbs; place lightly over them a buttered paper (using the rest of the butter), bake very slowly for 10 minutes; take off the paper, dish the fish prettily and pour the sauce round them. Place little sprigs of parsley in the eyes of the fish.

BAKED MACKEREL.

No. 43.

2 mackerel.

1 egg.

Salt and pepper.

1 oz. butter.

Red breadcrumbs.

2 oz. breadcrumbs.

1 dessertspoon parsley.

1 dessertspoon suet.

} teaspoon thyme.

Thoroughly clean the fish, using a little salt if necessary to take off the blood and black skin from the inside; split them open down the front of the body and take out the backbones; spread half the butter on a baking tin; place one mackerel on the tin, skin side downwards; chop the suet, parsley and thyme finely, mix them with the breadcrumbs, season and add enough of the egg beaten to form a stiffish forcemeat; spread this thickly over the mackerel on the tin, place the other mackerel on top, brush over with the other half of the butter and sprinkle with the red crumbs. Bake slowly for 15 to 20 minutes, and serve with mustard sauce (No. 122) poured round.

CODFISH PIE.

No. 44.

1 lb. codfish, or The remains of any cold fish.

1 oz. butter.

 $\frac{3}{4}$ oz. flour.

Salt and pepper.

} pint milk.

1 blade mace.

1 lb. mashed potatoes (No. 151).

Boil the fish, take away the skin and bones, and break it into large flakes; dissolve the butter, cook the mace and flour in it for 2 or 3 minutes; take off the fire and stir in the milk, season and boil up, stirring all the time; add the prepared fish, and pour into a buttered pie-dish; spread over this a thick crust of mashed potatoes, using a knife dipped in hot water for smoothing it over; brush the top of the pie with beaten egg, and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour. Serve garnished with parsley.

N.B.—A short pastry lid may be put over instead of the potato crust if preferred.

CASSEROLE OF FISH.

No. 45.

1 lb. cold cooked fish.

lb. mashed potatoes.

† pint melted butter or cream.

2 hard boiled eggs. Salt and pepper.

1 teaspoon anchovy essence.

Well butter a plain mould and coat it thickly with red or brown breadcrumbs; chop the eggs roughly, flake the fish and mix all the ingredients together, pour carefully into the tin, cover with a greased paper and bake in a moderate oven for three quarters of an hour. Turn out and pour melted butter or anchovy sauce round.

DRIED HADDOCK.

No. 46.

These are better cooked in the oven than boiled. Well grease a baking tin, scald the fish with boiling water for 3 or 4 minutes; dry it, place it on the tin and cover with a well-greased paper; bake slowly for from 10 to 15 minutes, according to the size of the fish. In serving, pour the liquor from the tin over it and rub a little more butter on if required.

FRESH HADDOCK AU GRATIN.

No. 47.

1 good-sized fresh haddock.
1 oz. brown breadcrumbs.

Salt and pepper. 1½ oz. butter.

Cut open the fish down the front of the body, take out the back bone, season the fish well with salt and pepper, FISH. 27 and sprinkle with the breadcrumbs (this part is better done over night and the fish hung up till morning); then rub the skin side of the fish well with flour (this will make it easier to fry without sticking to the pan); make the butter smoking hot in a frying-pan, put in the fish and gently shake the pan at once, and all the time of cooking baste the top of the fish with the butter which will cook it enough without turning, fry in this way for about 10 minutes, lift carefully on to a hot dish and serve with parsley to garnish, or dressed tomatoes (No. 145) round the dish.

FRIED FILLETS OF PLAICE.

No. 48.

6 or 8 fillets of plaice. Salt and pepper. Parsley.

1 dessertspoon flour.
1 beaten egg.
White breadcrumbs.

Wash and dry the fillets on a cloth; cut them into two or three slanting-wise, so that they will curl prettily in frying; mix together the flour, salt and pepper, and dip each fillet in it (this is to thoroughly dry the fish to make the egg and crumbs adhere properly).

Have the egg on a plate, and use a brush and knife; egg each piece well with the brush, drain and throw them into a large heap of breadcrumbs (No. 421); shake off all loose crumbs, passing the fish from one hand to the other lightly; plunge into smoking hot fat (No. 413) and fry to a golden brown; drain on kitchen paper and dress in a circle on a dish paper, and place fried parsley in the centre.

N.B.—All fish would be fried in the same way. A frying basket may be used or not according to convenience.

FILLETS OF PLAICE WITH WHITE SAUCE.

No. 49.

1 medium-sized plaice.
1 teaspoon lemon juice.

³/₄ pint fish sauce (No. 117). Salt and pepper,

Wash and dry the plaice on a cloth, and remove the fillets carefully thus: Take a sharp knife and cut a clean cut right down the middle of the fish from head to tail; then raise the fillets from the bones, keeping the knife flat on the bone and taking long clean cuts (not jagging, or the fish will be wasted); season the fillets and fold them into three, skin side inside, or they will unroll in the cooking; place them on a buttered baking-tin, sprinkle the lemon over them, and cover closely with buttered paper. They should be kept quite white in the cooking. Bake in a slow oven for from 7 to 15 minutes, according to the size; dish up nicely and coat over with the sauce. Decorate with red crumbs or chopped parsley.

FILLETS OF PLAICE WITH TOMATO SAUCE. No. 50.

These are done in exactly the same way as in the preceding recipe, only coated with tomato sauce (No. 131), in which the bones of the fish should be simmered for a few minutes.

Fillets of sole, whiting or mackerel are all good done in the same way.

FILLETS OF TURBOT.

No. 51.

1 small turbot.

1 egg.

Salt and pepper.

Breadcrumbs.

- 1 dessertspoon parsley.
- 1 dessertspoon oil.
- 1 dessertspoon vinegar.

Wash, dry the fish and remove the fillets as in recipe No. 49; cut them into strips about 1 inch wide, and in FISH, 29 length, the width of the fish from the middle to fins; mix on a plate the egg well beaten, oil, vinegar, parsley finely chopped, salt and pepper; lay the fillets in this for half an hour or so; take them out and coat them nicely with fine white or red breadcrumbs; place in the frying basket, and fry in smoking hot fat to a golden brown (not too fiercely or the fish will be hard); drain, dish on a paper in cross bars, and decorate with fried parsley. Serve with gherkin sauce (No. 119).

FISH IN BATTER.

No. 52.

2 or 3 whiting.1 gill tepid water.Salt and pepper.

4 oz. flour. 1 egg.

1 teaspoon salad oil.

Cut the fish, after washing and drying them, carefully down the back, and take off the fillets without breaking; put the flour in a basin, make a hole in the centre, drop in the yolk, a little salt and pepper, and the salad oil; stir into a batter with the water, beat it well till smooth and light; whisk the white of the egg to a stiff froth with pinch of salt and a clean knife on a plate, and just before frying stir it lightly into the batter; cut each fillet of fish into three, dip into the batter, take out with a skewer, and drop carefully into smoking hot fat; fry to a golden brown, turning the pieces over with a fish slice; drain on kitchen paper, and serve with fried parsley (No. 431) or tomato sauce (No. 131).

FISH PUDDING.

No. 53.

½ lb. cooked fish.2 oz. breadcrumbs.Salt and pepper.1 gill milk.

2 oz. butter.
2 eggs.

Little grated nutmeg.

Chop the fish fine, and cook it in the butter till hot, stirring it about; boil the milk and pour over the breadcrumbs; when well soaked, add them to the fish with the eggs and seasoning; beat all well together, pour into a well-buttered basin, just large enough to hold it, cover with a greased paper, and steam gently for 1 hour. Serve with a nice anchovy sauce poured over.

N.B.—This pudding may be baked for 40 minutes.

FILLETS OF SOLE.

No. 54.

2 small soles. 8 small potatoes. Salt and cavenne. ³/₄ pint gherkin sauce (No. 119).
 Little lemon juice.
 Dressed spinach (No. 144).

Remove the fillets from the bones (No. 49), trim the potatoes round in shape, and roll the fillets round them so as to keep the centres hollow; place them on a buttered baking-sheet, season and sprinkle with the lemon, cover with greased paper, and bake in a slow oven for 7 to 10 minutes; take out the potato carefully, place the rings of sole on a dish and coat them over with the sauce; fill up the centre with spinach, which should be rather soft with cream.

FISH CURRY.

No. 55.

1 lb. of cooked fish. 1 oz. butter.

doz. curry powder.

 $\frac{3}{4}$ oz. flour.

3 pint milk.

1 oz. cocoanut.
1 onion.

Salt.

1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Soak the cocoanut in the milk for half an hour; strain it; slice the onion very thin and cook it in the butter for 10 minutes without turning its colour, add flour and curry powder, cook a little, then off the fire; stir in the milk, bring to the boil (stirring), season, and put in the fish in large flakes, having taken away skin and bones; cook very slowly for half an hour, add lemon, and serve in a border of rice (No. 422).

FISH. 31

HADDOCK A LA MAITRE D'HOTEL.

No. 56.

1 fresh haddock.

1 oz. butter.

1 oz. flour.

1 dessertspoon lemon juice.

1 dessertspoon parsley.

1 pint water.

Salt and cayenne.

Cut the fish down the back, and take off the fillets carefully; cut each one into three, place these on a buttered baking-tin, season with salt and cayenne, and sprinkle with a little lemon juice; cover with a greased paper, and bake slowly for 15 minutes. In the meantime, simmer the bones of the fish in the water for 5 or 6 minutes, strain the stock, melt the butter, cook the flour in it a minute or so, then add fish stock by degrees; stir to the boil, season, add the lemon juice and parsley chopped very fine (No. 432). Place the fillets neatly on the dish in a circle, and coat over with the maitre d'hotel sauce.

ROLLED HERRINGS.

No. 57.

6 fresh herrings. 1 oz. dripping. Forcemeat (No. 43). Salt and pepper.

Scale the herrings thoroughly, cut them open, take out the roes; clean and dry the fish, remove the back bones so that the fish will roll up, spread a little forcemeat over each of the herrings, and lay on this half a roe (soft ones are the best), roll the fish up and rub them over with flour; place them in a baking-tin with the dripping, and bake for 15 to 20 minutes, basting them once or twice while they are cooking. Place them on a dish and garnish with parsley. These may be served with mustard sauce (No. 122).

SCOLLOPED OYSTERS.

No. 58.

2 doz. oysters. 4 oz. breadcrumbs. 1 pint white sauce (No. 133). 1 oz. butter.

Beard the oysters and take away the hard muscles; heat the white sauce and add the oyster liquor, if there is any; stir in the oysters whole; butter some small scollop shells or ramequins, and sprinkle them with breadcrumbs; then put in a little of the fish mixture and a layer of breadcrumbs, and so on until the shells are sufficiently filled to look nice, using breadcrumbs last. Place a small pat of butter on top of each, and bake in a moderate oven 15 to 20 minutes. Serve in the shells and garnish with parsley.

STEWED SOLE.

No. 59.

1 medium-sized sole.
1 sprig parsley.
2 pint Liebig's beef tea.
Salt and cayenne.
3 oz. butter.

1 sprig parsley.
1 shalot.
4 peppercorns.

Skin the sole; egg, breadcrumb and fry it to a golden brown colour (No. 48); drain well on kitchen paper; put into a stewpan sufficiently large to hold the sole, without curling or breaking it, the beef tea, parsley, peppercorns, shalot whole, butter and seasoning; bring to the simmering point, lay in the fried sole, and cook very gently for 15 to 20 minutes. Place on a dish and strain the sauce round.

N.B.—To make the beef tea, take half a teaspoon of Liebig's meat extract and dissolve it in $1\frac{1}{2}$ gills boiling water.

SHRIMP PUFFS.

No. 60.

½ pint picked shrimps.	1 oz. butter
1½ gills shrimp stock.	1 oz. flour.
1 small teaspoon curry powder.	Salt.

Simmer the shells of the shrimps in the water for 5 minutes, strain; melt the butter, cook the flour and curry powder in it and stir in the stock, season and boil; mince the shrimps and put into the sauce.

Make 4 oz. short crust (No. 239) without the baking powder, roll out very thin and cut into rounds; place a good teaspoon of the mixture on one side of the pastry, wet the edges and press together, or fold into three-cornered shapes, which are prettier, and fry in smoking hot fat 3 or 4 minutes. Serve with fried parsley.

SALMON WITH PICCALILLI SAUCE.

No. 61.

2 slices of salmon.	1 oz. butter.
½ pint stock (No. 3).	1 small Spanish onion.
$\frac{1}{2}$ oz. flour.	3 tablespoons piccalilli.

Fry the salmon in a very little hot butter on both sides, chop the onion very fine and fry it a light brown in the butter, add flour and stock, season and stir to the boil; mix in gradually the piccalilli; lay the slices of salmon in this sauce, cover with a greased paper and stew gently for about half an hour. Serve with the sauce poured over.

N.B.—Mackerel cooked in this way is very nice.

STUFFED HADDOCK.

No. 62.

1 fresh haddock.	Forcemeat (No. 43)
Brown breadcrumbs.	2 oz. dripping.
Half a beaten egg.

Wash and dry the fish well; lay the forcemeat neatly in the stomach and sew up with as few stitches as possible; rub flour all over to dry the skin and truss in the shape of the letter "S"; brush over with the egg and cover with crumbs, lift carefully on to a tin containing the dripping; bake in a moderate oven for 15 to 20 minutes, pasting several times as soon as the crumb-casing is well set. Take out trussing strings and place on a dish, with parsley in the eye cavities, and anchovy sauce (No. 106) poured round.

SALT COD. No. 63.

This fish if very dry should be soaked for several hours in cold water, and two waters are better than one.

It should be boiled very gently and put on in warm water, in order to draw out the salt. It takes about the same time as fresh fish to cook after being soaked; drain well after cooking, place it on a napkin, garnish with lemon and parsley. Serve with egg sauce and mashed parsnips.

SALMON CUTLETS.

No. 64.

6 oz. cold cooked salmon. 1 gill milk.

1 teaspoon lemon juice. Egg and breadcrumbs. 1 oz. butter.
1 oz. flour.
Salt and cayenne.

Chop the salmon with a sharp knife very fine; melt the butter, stir in the flour and milk, boil to a thick sauce, season, add the salmon and lemon juice, mix well and turn out on a plate to set and cool; make up into small cutlets the shape of a flattened pear, egg and breadcrumb them, fry in a basket to a golden colour in smoking hot fat; drain, dish in a circle and place fried parsley (No. 431) in the centre.

No. 65.

TARANTO OYSTERS.

1 doz. oysters.2 oz. Parmesan cheese.Cayenne and salt.pint good stock.

1 oz. macaroni.

1 oz. butter.

Beard, and chop the oysters roughly, stew the macaroni until quite tender in the stock, strain and chop it finely; melt the butter in a saucepan, add the macaroni, oysters, cheese grated, cream and seasoning; make all hot, but do not boil; fill some small ramequins, sprinkle the top with a little red breadcrumbs and grated cheese; brown before the fire or in the oven for a few minutes without drying the mixture, and serve very hot.

TURBOT A LA CRÈME.

No. 66.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. cooked turbot. $\frac{1}{2}$ gill cream.

½ gill cream.
Sippets of fried bread.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ pint cream sauce (No. 113). A little lemon juice.

Heat the cream sauce, take away the bones and dark skin from the turbot and break it into large flakes; put these into the hot sauce, add the cream and lemon juice gradually, season nicely with salt and cayenne pepper, and thoroughly warm the fish through without boiling the sauce or it might curdle; turn out on a dish, and place sippets round.

MEAT DISHES.

BRAISED NECK OF MUTTON.

No. 67.

1½-2 lb. best end neck of mutton.
2 carrots.
2 turnips.
2 onions.
Half a head celery.
Red breadcrumbs.
3 oz. flour.

Saw off the spine bone, and trim off all but a thin layer of the fat from the mutton; put the stock into a saucepan with the herbs, spices and vegetables; cut up into diamond or square blocks; bring this to the boil; place the mutton on top of the vegetables, cover with a greased paper and the lid of the pan, and simmer very gently for about $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 hours; take out the meat and sprinkle the fat side with red breadcrumbs; place on a dish with the vegetables arranged nicely round it; strain the braising stock, melt the butter and fry the flour brown in it; add the stock, previously removing the fat from it with kitchen paper; boil up, season nicely, and strain round the mutton. A few drops of caramel (No. 418) must be used if the sauce is not brown enough.

N.B.—Braising is an excellent method of cooking any kind of meat. It is an easy and economical way too, retaining the nourishment, juices and flavour, and keeps the meat more tender than stewing, as it is generally done.

BEEF CURRY.

No. 68.

1 lb. fillet of beef.

1 large onion.

1 apple. 1 tomato.

Salt.

Little lemon juice.

1 oz. desiccated cocoanut. 1 teaspoon brown sugar.

oz. curry powder. I this

3 oz. flour. 4 Tolo 1 gill stock (No. 2). //2

1 oz. butter. This

Heat the butter, slice the onion very thin, and fry to a light brown; add flour and curry powder, fry a little to take off the roughness, stir in the stock and salt, boil to a thick sauce; drop the tomato into boiling water for half a minute, skin it and slice thin; chop the apple; add these to the sauce with sugar and cocoanut; take fat and skin from the meat and cut it into 1 inch squares; put into the pan, and simmer all very gently for 11 to 2 hours; add lemon juice and serve the curry with freely boiled rice (No. 422).

N.B.—This will be found a very thick sauce at first, but will thin down with the juices from the fruit and meat.

BEEF OLIVES.

No. 69.

1 lb. rump steak. 1 pint brown sauce (No. 109). Veal forcemeat (No. 180). 1 teaspoon lemon juice. Mashed potatoes (No. 151). } lb. tomatoes (No. 145).

Cut the steak into thin slices about 4 inches long and 3 inches wide; beat them even with a cutlet bat or rolling pin and trim the edges neatly; shred the trimmings and put them into the forcemeat; spread a little of this down the centre of each slice of beef, roll up loosely and tie round with string or cotton (not too tight, or it will make an ugly mark); heat the sauce, lay the olives in it and stew very gently with the lemon juice for $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 hours; take off the string, dish nicely on a bed or border of mashed potato, pour the sauce over and round, and garnish with the tomatoes.

BOILED MUTTON.

No. 70.

2-3 lb. middle or best end neck of mutton.

2 oz. Carolina rice. 2 this

1 oz. flour. 2 the Salt and pepper.

1 carrot.

1 turnip.
1 onion.

1 sprig parsley.

h pint milk.

1 tablespoon chopped parsley.

A nice stock should be prepared to boil the mutton in in this way:—

Put into a stewpan just enough cold water to cover the meat, wash the rice, and cut the vegetables all into small squares; put these into the water with seasoning and parsley, and cook gently for 1 hour. See that the joint is properly jointed, cut away any superfluous fat and the marrow running along the bones. Weigh the meat and allow 20 minutes to each pound and 20 minutes over; put it into the prepared stock, draw to the side of the fire, and simmer it gently the whole time of cooking. Take up and coat over with the following sauce, place small heaps of rice and vegetables round as a garnish.

Sauce.—Melt the butter, cook the flour a minute or so in it, add the milk and half a pint of the mutton broth, season and stir to the boil; cook 3 or 4 minutes, add parsley (No. 432).

BEEF STEAK PIE.

No. 71.

1 lb. rump steak.

4 oz. beef kidney.

1 teaspoon chopped parsley.

1 oz. flour. 27/10

3 pint stock or water.

½ teaspoon thyme. Salt and pepper.

½ lb. rough puff pastry (No. 238).

Cut the steak into very thin slices, also the kidney, taking away skin and gristle from both; mix the flour, salt and pepper on a plate, dip the meat into it, and roll a piece of kidney and fat into each slice, place the rolls lightly in a pie dish, and sprinkle them with parsley and thyme chopped very fine; add the water, roll the pastry out about a quarter of an inch thick; wet the edge of the pie dish, and line it with strips of pastry the same width, easing them round to allow for shrinking; wet the edge of pastry and place a lid on, pressing it lightly to the lining, flake round the edge of the pastry with the back of a knife; make a hole in the centre of the pie, and arrange some small leaves of pastry round it, put a rose or frill in the hole, brush the top all over with beaten egg, and bake the pie about an hour and a half.

N.B.—Cook the pastry in a hot part of the oven for about 20 minutes, then only a cool oven is required to cook the meat slowly.

BAKED VEAL OLIVES.

No. 72.

1 lb. lean veal cutlet. 4 oz. fat bacon. Forcemeat (No. 180). $\frac{3}{4}$ pint brown sauce (No. 109).

Cut the veal into thin slices 4 inches long and about 3 inches wide, spread a little of the forcemeat down the centre of each and roll them up; trim nicely and wrap each one in a slice of fat bacon cut very thin, place them in a baking-tin, and bake in a moderate oven for about 40 minutes, or until the veal is quite tender, basting them from time to time with the fat; dish them on a border of mashed potato or spinach, and pour the sauce round; garnish with slices of lemon and hard boiled egg.

N.B.—These are nice served with tomato sauce (No. 131) instead of brown.

BRAISED FILLET OF BEEF.

No. 73.

Cut the carrots and turnips into oblong shapes, trim the lettuces and celery, leave the tomatoes and onions whole; put these into a stewpan with the herbs, spices and stock, bring to the boil, lay the fillet trimmed on the top, cover with a greased paper, and simmer gently until the meat is tender $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 hours; place the meat on a dish and arrange the vegetables round it; strain the stock and remove any fat with kitchen paper; add a few drops of caramel (No. 418), and boil quickly to half its quantity with the lid of the pan off; pour this over and round the meat, and serve garnished with grated horse raddish.

CALF'S HEAD ROLLED.

No. 74.

Half a calf's head.
Yolk of one egg.
Grated nutmeg.
3 oz. streaky bacon.
2 mushrooms.
3 oz. breadcrumbs.

1 oz. butter. \\ \tag{Verb}
1 dessertspoon parsley.
\(\frac{1}{2} \) teaspoon thyme.
Seasoning.
1 gill milk,

Soak the head in chilled water in which there is some salt for nearly 2 hours; cut out the tongue and brains, then cut away the splinter bones and anything discoloured and thoroughly clean it; with a sharp knife bone the head (this is easily done, beginning at the thin side, raising the meat from the bones); spread the meat out and season it well with salt and pepper; boil the milk, pour it over the bread and soak it; melt the butter, add the parsley and thyme finely chopped, nutmeg seasoning and bread; stir to a hot paste over the fire, take off, and beat in the yolk; spread this panada thick over the head and lay on next strips of the bacon and mushrooms, roll up and tie tightly in a pudding cloth. Put the bones into a pan with 3 quarts of cold water, and 1 dessertspoon of salt, bring to the boil, skim thoroughly. Boil the rolled head in this for 13 to 2 hours, take off the cloth, dish, and coat over with a pint of sauce (No. 132) in which place 1 tablespoon finely-chopped parsley.

The tongue can also be boiled in the stock skinned and used as a garnish. The brains skin carefully; after soaking in warm salt water, tie them in muslin and boil 10 minutes in the stock; when cold slice into half-inch pieces, egg and breadcrumb them and fry in hot fat; place round the dish.

N.B.—There will be an excellent stock for mock turtle soup.

IRISH STEW.

No. 80.

1½-2 lb. middle neck of mutton.
3 lb. potatoes.
Salt and pepper,

2 onions. 1 pint water. Flour.

Cut most of the fat off the meat; take out the marrow running along the bones; cut into neat joints not too large; put this into a stewpan, add a teaspoon of salt and the water cold, bring to the boil, and directly the scum rises take the pan off the fire and skim thoroughly. Put in the onion sliced thinly, a little pepper, and dredge the gravy with flour slightly. (This should be done three or four times before the potatoes are put in; it takes up the fat and thickens the gravy.) Simmer gently for an hour; peel the potatoes and put them whole on the top of the meat; cook slowly again until the potatoes are done. Arrange the potatoes round the dish with the meat and gravy in the centre.

VEGETABLES

ARTICHOKES.

No. 134.

2 lb. Jerusalem artichokes. | ½ pint white sauce (No. 133).

The artichokes should be cooked as soon after they are dug up as possible. Choose them all one size, throw them into cold water and scrub them; peel them thinly and rinse them in cold water, in which there is a little vinegar or lemon juice (this will help to keep them white). Have a large pan of boiling water on the fire; throw in a tablespoon of milk and about the same of lemon juice, also salt in the proportion of 1 small teaspoon to each pint of water used. Cook the artichokes briskly in this for about half an hour; drain them well and serve coated with sauce.

ARTICHOKES STUFFED.

No. 135.

1 lb. Jerusalem artichokes. 2 oz. lean ham. $\frac{1}{2}$ pint white sauce (No. 133). 1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Choose rather large and good-shaped artichokes; boil them as in the preceding recipe; when tender take them up on a clean cloth, and with a teaspoon scoop out the centres, leaving a nice casing. Heat the sauce and add the lemon; take enough of it to form the ham freed from fat, and chopped very fine into a creamy paste rather thick; fill in the artichokes with this, place them in the dish, and coat all over with the remaining sauce. Serve very hot.

BOILED CELERY.

No. 136.

1 or 2 heads celery.

| 1 pint white sauce (No. 133).

Put on a large pan of water; when boiling add a dash of milk and a few drops of vinegar or lemon juice; scrape the celery, using the nice parts only; cut it into quarters and then into about 6-inch lengths; tie it up in bundles; put them into the prepared water; boil gently for half an hour (over-cooking will spoil the colour and flavour); drain well, place in a dish and sauce over.

N.B.—Celery may be served with brown sauce (No. 109) also if liked.

BOILED ASPARAGUS.

No. 137.

25 heads asparagus.

3 oz. butter sauce (No. 111).

A slice of toast.

Scrape the asparagus in water, rinse and tie up in bundles; cut off the white end, leaving the sticks about 4 inches long; throw into plenty of boiling salted water; boil gently for 20 to 30 minutes, drain and serve on a slice of toast to absorb all the water. Hand the sauce round.

BOILING GREEN VEGETABLES.

No. 138.

In boiling all green vegetables, with one or two exceptions, the same rules should be observed. Always use plenty of water for cleaning and cooking them (the more the better). The water should be prepared before the vegetables are put in. Take 1 small teaspoon of salt to each pint used, also as much common soda as would cover a threepenny piece (this does for a large pan); boil the water, salt and soda fast for 5 minutes and skim it if necessary; clean the vegetables and soak them for an hour in cold water and cut away the hard stalks from cabbages, etc.; drain them in a colander and throw them into the water; boil very fast for 20 to 30 minutes. Do not over-boil them, or the flavour and colour is spoilt. Directly they are tender drain them very dry and serve at once.

CAULIFLOWER AU GRATIN.

No. 139.

1 nice cauliflower.

2 oz. Parmesan cheese.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon mixed mustard.

½ pint white sauce (No. 133). Salt and cayenne pepper.

Trim most of the green part away from the flower and cut off the hard stalk; place the cauliflower in plenty of salted boiling water, flower downwards to keep it white, and boil gently in order not to break it till tender 20 to 30 minutes, according to size; take it up on a clean cloth and absorb all the water; place in a deep gratin dish, heat the sauce, stir in the cheese grated and mustard, and cover the cauliflower completely over; sprinkle it on top with a little grated cheese, and place in a hot oven or before a clear fire to brown.

CAULIFLOWER WITH BROWN SAUCE.

No. 140.

1 nice cauliflower.

1 carrot.

1 oz. butter.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ pint brown sauce (No. 109).

1 teaspoon parsley.

Cook the cauliflower as in the preceding recipe; heat the sauce and cover the flower with it; cut the carrot into small diamond-shaped pieces and boil till tender in boiling salted water; drain and toss in the butter and parsley finely chopped; sprinkle this over the cauliflower and serve.

COLCANNON.

No. 141.

Cold vegetables.

1 tablespoon parsley.

1 lb. mashed potatoes (No. 151). 1½ oz. butter or dripping.

This is a nice way of using up the remains of any kind of cold vegetables (the greater variety the nicer the dish). Take cold carrots, turnip, cauliflower, cabbage—about equal quantities of each—and chop them up; then mix well with the mashed potatoes, parsley finely chopped and seasoning. Make the fat smoking hot in the fryingpan; put in the mixture, smooth over and shake the pan to prevent the vegetables sticking; fry to a good brown on the underneath side and turn out in shape on to a hot dish, or the mixture may be baked in a piedish, greased and lined with brown breadcrumbs.

DRESSED CARROTS (I.).

No. 142.

1 doz. small new carrots. Salt and pepper. 1 oz. butter.

1 dessertspoon parsley.

Scrape the carrots a bright red and rinse them in cold water; boil them till quite tender—half to three-quarters of an hour—in boiling salted water; drain them, put in the butter, parsley, seasoning, and shake well. Serve very hot.

DRESSED CARROTS (II.).

No. 143.

1 doz. small new carrots.
1 teaspoon parsley.

½ pint white sauce (No. 133). Salt and pepper.

Scrape and boil the carrots; drain; heat the sauce; add the parsley, very finely chopped, the seasoning, and stir the carrots into it without breaking them. Serve hot.

DRESSED SPINACH.

No. 144.

2 lb. spinach. Fried bread. Salt and pepper. 1 oz. butter.1 hard-boiled egg.

The spinach must be well rinsed in several waters to clean it. Take off the roots and tear off the thick stalk right down the back of the leaves or the spinach will be stringy; put it into a stewpan, sprinkle with salt, and reduce it down slowly for 15 to 20 minutes, or until quite tender; drain it, and either chop it very fine or pass it through a wire sieve; melt the butter in a saucepan; stir the spinach in it till it is thoroughly hot; season nicely. Have some thin slices of bread fried in hot fat and cut into rounds; pile the spinach high on them, and decorate with the white of the egg chopped fine and the yolk passed through a wire sieve. Serve very hot. A little cream may be added.

DRESSED TOMATOES.

No. 145.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. tomatoes.

1 tablespoon brown breadcrumbs.

1 tablespoon grated cheese.

1 oz. butter.

1 teaspoon finely chopped parsley.

Salt and pepper.

Spread a little of the butter down the middle of a baking-tin; cut the tomatoes in halves, sideways; place them on the tin; season them with salt and pepper; sprinkle them freely with brown breadcrumbs, then with cheese, and, lastly, a little parsley on each; put a tiny bit of butter on top; bake in a moderate oven 15 to 20 minutes. Serve hot.

DRESSED TURNIPS (I).

No. 146.

 $\begin{array}{lll} \text{4 medium-sized turnips.} & \text{1 oz. butter.} \\ \frac{1}{2} \text{ pint milk.} & \frac{3}{4} \text{ oz. flour.} \\ \text{1 dessertspoon parsley.} & \text{Salt and pepper.} \end{array}$

Peel the turnips thickly to take away the woody fibre from the outsides, cut them into nice square blocks (about 1 inch), boil them until tender in boiling salted water 15 to 20 minutes, drain them dry; melt the butter, cook the flour in it a little, add the milk and seasoning, stir to the boil; put in the turnips and parsley, stir over the fire until thoroughly hot.

DRESSED TURNIPS (II.).

No. 147.

4 turnips. 1 oz. glaze (No. 417).
Seasoning. 1 teaspoon chopped parsley.

Cut and cook the turnips as in the previous recipe; drain them well; melt the glaze in a saucepan slowly; put in the turnips, parsley and seasoning; simmer by the side of the fire for 10 minutes.

N.B.—Carrots or parsnips are equally nice dressed in this way.

FRENCH BEANS.

No. 148.

2 lb. French beans. Salt and pepper. 1 oz. butter.

Take the skin off both sides of the beans, slice them into slanting-wise strips thinly, wash them, throw them into a large pan of boiling salted water with a pinch of soda; boil quickly until tender, drain them, shake them over the fire with the butter and a little pepper. Serve hot.

GREEN PEAS.

No. 149.

After shelling them wash them. They should be boiled, not too fast, in boiling salted water, in which there is a lump or two of sugar and a good sprig of mint; drain them and toss them with a nice piece of butter. They will take from 15 to 40 minutes (according to their age) to cook.

LENTIL FRITTERS.

No. 150.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ pint red lentils. 1 onion. 1 sprig parsley. 1 sprig thyme. Salt and pepper. 2 eggs.

Wash and pick over the lentils, tie them tightly in a cloth with the parsley, thyme and onion sliced; boil for 1 hour, putting them into a large pan of boiling water; open the cloth, take out the parsley and thyme, put the lentils in a basin, and stir in the eggs and season well. Turn out on a plate to cool and set; make up into small round cakes, dip them in beaten egg, then in flour; fry them in smoking hot fat; drain and serve with fried parsley (No. 431).

MASHED POTATOES.

No. 151.

2 lb. potatoes. 1 oz. butter. $\frac{1}{2}$ gill milk. Salt and pepper. A little grated nutmeg.

Boil the potatoes as in No. 155; pass them through a wire sieve; boil the butter and milk together in a saucepan, put in the potatoes, nutmeg and seasoning; beat over the fire until they are smooth, white and creamy.

NEW POTATOES.

No. 152.

These should be chosen all of one size, so that they will cook together. First scrub them, then scrape them, using plenty of water to keep them a good colour; throw them into cold water as they are done, and change it directly it turns brown. Have sufficient boiling water to cover them; salt it, and put in a sprig of mint with the potatoes; boil slowly from 15 to 40 minutes, according to the size, but only long enough to make them just tender; drain, take away the mint, dry them under a cloth by the side of the fire; just before serving shake in a good piece of butter.

NEW POTATOES À LA MAÎTRE D'HÔTEL.

No. 153.

2 lb. new potatoes.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ pint maître d'hôtel sauce (No. 125).

Choose rather small potatoes; boil them as in the preceding recipe; cut them into slices half an inch thick; heat the sauce, put in the potatoes and stir them carefully over the fire until hot through without breaking them.

ONIONS BOILED.

No. 154.

1 lb, onions,

 $\frac{1}{2}$ pint white sauce (No. 133).

Peel the onions, which should be all one size and not too large, thinly, not taking off more skins than is necessary, as it causes them to break in the cooking; put them on in boiling salted water and boil them for 15 minutes, when change the water and cook them gently for $1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 hours; drain them and serve with the white sauce over. Leeks are nice served in this way.

OLD POTATOES BOILED.

No. 155.

Choose them of one size; scrub them well and then peel them thinly, throwing them into cold water as they are done; but it does not improve old potatoes to soak them a long time before cooking. Some varieties are best cooked by putting them in boiling water, while some are better for being put on in cold. You must try the potatoes each way and see which suits them best. water should always be salted before the potatoes are put in, and only enough used to well cover them. them very gently, and when just tender strain them off immediately. Potatoes are often spoilt by leaving them in the water after they are cooked. They will take from 20 minutes to half an hour; drain them thoroughly; place them by the side of the fire with the lid of the pan off, and a clean cloth pushed tightly down on them (this will draw off the moisture); keep them hot and make them white and flowery. Never cut potatoes before boiling them, and try not to break them in dishing up.

PARISIAN POTATOES.

No. 156.

5 or 6 potatoes. Salt and cayenne. 1 dessertspoon chopped parsley.

Old or new potatoes are nice done in this way. Peel and cut the potatoes into slices half an inch thick, then into rounds with a small pastry cutter; throw these into boiling salted water for 3 minutes; drain them well on a cloth; put them into a frying basket; plunge them into smoking hot fat; fry to a golden colour about 5 or 6 minutes; drain them on kitchen paper and sprinkle them with salt, cayenne and parsley. Serve very hot.

POTATO RIBBONS.

No. 157.

Take nice round potatoes; peel them and cut them into slices half an inch thick; trim off the edge, so as to make the slice as round as possible; then peel off as you would in peeling an apple, thinly, into a long ribbon; tie into bows or knots; fry in hot fat a golden colour; drain on paper.

POTATO SOUFFLÉES.

No. 158.

6 medium-sized potatoes. 2 eggs. 1 oz. butter. $\frac{1}{2}$ gill milk. Cayenne pepper. Salt.

Scrub and bake the potatoes; cut them carefully in half and remove the flowery part, taking precaution not to break the skin; sieve the potato, melt the butter, add the milk; take 3 oz. of the potato, beat it into the milk with the yolks of the eggs and the seasoning; lastly, whisk the whites to a stiff froth and stir in lightly; fill the potato cases and bake in a quick oven for 20 minutes. Serve hot.

POTATO CROQUETTES.

No. 159.

1 lb. potatoes.
1 teaspoon chopped parsley.
2 gill milk.
Salt and cayenne.
Little grated nutmeg.

Boil and dry the potatoes (No. 155); pass them through a wire sieve; boil the milk and butter together; put in the potatoes, seasoning and parsley; beat to a hot paste over the fire, then stir in enough of the egg beaten to form a smooth creamy paste. Turn this out on a plate to cool, when make up into balls or cork shapes; egg and breadcrumb them carefully, and fry to a light golden colour in hot fat.

1 oz. brown breadcrumbs.

Any vegetables in season can be used in this dish (the greater variety of flavour and colour the better). They must be cut in pieces not too large, and each boiled in separate salted water until tender and well drained. Carrots, turnips, beans, etc., look nice cut into diamond shapes. Make the sauce hot and stir the vegetables into it without breaking them; put the mixture into a greased pie dish; peel and slice the tomatoes; place them as a crust over the top; sprinkle with the parsley, onion and brown breadcrumbs, also seasoning; place a few bits of butter here and there, and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour.

SAVOURIES

(WITH BREAKFAST AND SUPPER DISHES).

ANCHOVY EGGS.

No. 168.

3 anchovies.
3 eggs.

3 croûtes of fried bread. Anchovy paste.

Cut the bread into rounds just large enough to hold a poached egg, fry them and drain; wash the anchovies in warm water and take out the bones, keeping the fillets as neat as possible; cut each fillet in two lengthways. Have a saucepan half full of simmering water on the stove, put in a little salt and two drops of vinegar; drop the eggs in carefully and poach slowly for 3 minutes; drain them and place on the croûtes, trimming the eggs neat. Place the anchovy fillets in cross bars on the eggs, 4 on each; decorate with a pinch of chopped parsley and serve hot.

The croûtes may be spread with anchovy paste if liked.

BOMBAY TOASTS.

No. 169.

1 oz. anchovies. Yolks of 2 eggs. Croûtes of bread. 1 oz. butter.
1 tablespoon cream.
Cavenne.

Wash the anchovies in warm water, bone and pound them with the butter to a paste; melt this slowly in a saucepan; add the yolks mixed with the cream and cayenne; stir over gentle heat to the consistency of thick cream; spread thick on some small oval croûtes of fried bread and serve very hot.

BEEF GALANTINE.

No. 170.

1 lb. lean beef. 1 egg. Salt and pepper.

3 oz. bacon. 4 oz. breadcrumbs. A little grated nutmeg.

Scrape the beef very fine or pass it through a mincing machine; mix it well with the breadcrumbs, seasoning and bacon cut very small; beat the egg and bind the mixture into a stiff paste with it; form into a short, thick roll, tie securely in a dry pudding cloth, plunge into boiling water for 3 or 4 minutes, then only simmer it very gently for 11 hours. Take up and press between two dishes with a weight on top till quite cold, when trim off the ends and brush the top over with glaze (No. 417).

BEEF CAKE.

No. 171.

1 lb. fillet of beef.

1 dessertspoon parsley.

Salt and pepper.

3 sheets gelatine.

1 hard-boiled egg.

teaspoon thyme.

1 pint stock.

1 teaspoon grated lemon.

Cut the egg into slices and then in half, and place them all round the bottom of an oval plain tin; take away all fat and skin from the beef, and cut into half-inch square pieces; chop parsley and thyme very fine; put the beef into the tin and sprinkle the flavourings and seasonings between; fill the mould with stock, which should have the gelatine dissolved in it, unless the stock is a good jelly, in which case it is unnecessary; cover with a greased paper and bake very slowly for 2 hours. Turn out when quite cold and decorate with parsley.

CHEESE SAVOURY.

No. 172

Some milk or other small dry biscuits.

1 white of egg. 2 oz. grated Parmesan. 2 oz. butter.

2 oz. grated Gruyère. 1 dessertspoon essence of anchovy.

Salt and cavenne.

2 yolks of egg.

4 oz. cold meat.

1 lb. cooked potatoes.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. butter.

1 egg.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. flour.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon chopped onion.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon chopped parsley.

Salt and pepper.

1 gill stock.

Pass the potatoes through a sieve while they are hot; melt 1 ounce of the butter in a saucepan; put in the potatoes with seasoning and a little grated nutmeg; stir until hot over the fire; take off and stir in the egg beaten. Well grease some small moulds or darioles and coat them round with brown or red breadcrumbs, then line them thinly with the potato (the easiest way to do this is to roll the potato into balls, drop them carefully into the mould, and then take a teaspoon dipped in hot water and press from the middle to the sides); when they are done, melt the half-ounce butter, cook the onion in it, stir in the flour and stock, season and boil to a thick sauce; put in the meat, freed from fat and skin and chopped very fine, the parsley and a little grated nutmeg; fill the moulds with this; put on a thin lid of potato and bake 15 to 20 minutes in a hot oven. Serve with brown or tomato sauce, poured round them on the dish.

CHICKEN CUTLETS.

No. 214.

6 oz. cold chicken.

³/₄ oz. butter.

doz. flour.

Salt and cavenne.

2 oz. lean cooked ham.

∄ gill milk.

1 teaspoon chopped parsley.

1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Mince the chicken and ham very fine; melt the butter in a saucepan, add the flour and milk; boil to a thick sauce, stir in the ham, chicken, seasoning, parsley and lemon juice; mix well; turn on a plate to cool; when set make into small cutlets, egg and crumb them and fry to a light brown in hot fat; stick an inch of parsley stalk in the narrow end of each to imitate the bone; dress in a circle, and serve with fried parsley in the centre and tomato sauce round.

CHICKEN FRICASSEE.

No. 215.

Remains of a cold chicken.

1 blade mace.
Salt and cayenne.

1 oz. butter.

3 oz. flour,
3 pint milk.
Sippets of fried bread.

Cut the chicken into rather small joints, take off the skin, simmer this with any odd bits in the milk with the mace slowly for 15 minutes; strain; melt the butter, cook the flour well in it without browning, add the milk (a little at a time), season and stir to the boil; place the pieces of chicken in the sauce and simmer gently until quite hot through. Serve with sippets of fried bread and small rolls of bacon.

COLD MEAT FRITTERS.

No. 216.

3 oz. cold meat. 1 egg. A little grated nutmeg. Salt and pepper. 4 oz. flour.1 gill tepid water.1 teaspoon salad oil.

Put the flour in a mixing basin, make a hole in the middle of it and drop in the oil and yolk of egg, stir to a smooth batter with the water and beat for 5 minutes; whisk the white of the egg to a stiff froth and mix in very lightly with the seasoning, nutmeg and meat minced fine; have the frying fat smoking, but not too fierce; drop in dessertspoonfuls of the mixture, keeping the spoon still as you scrape the fritters off with another spoon; fry to a very light brown, turning the fritters about as they fry; drain well on paper and serve at once.

CURRY OF COLD MEAT.

No. 217.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. cold meat.

 $\frac{3}{4}$ oz. flour.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. curry powder.

1 gill stock (No. 2).

1 teaspoon curry paste.

1 oz. butter.

1 onion.
1 apple.
1 tomato.

1 oz. cocoanut.

Salt.

Make the butter hot; slice the onion thin and fry to a light brown; stir in the flour and curry powder and cook a minute or so; add the stock slowly and boil up the sauce; skin and slice the tomato; peel and chop the apple; mix these in with salt, sugar, paste and cocoanut; simmer for 1 hour, stirring frequently; cut the meat into one-inch squares, removing most of the fat and skin; put into the sauce and heat gently through, unless the meat is very underdone, in which case simmer it until quite tender (it may take an hour). Serve in a border of rice (No. 422).

CURRIED CROQUETTES.

No. 218.

Croquettes (No. 221).

Curry sauce.

Make the sauce as in the preceding recipe, only adding half a pint of stock instead of a quarter, and when simmered strain; drain the croquettes well after frying them, and put them into the sauce for 15 to 20 minutes to heat through, taking care not to break them. Serve in a border of rice (No. 422).

COLD MEAT CAKE.

No. 219.

½ lb. cold meat.

1 egg.

1 oz. butter.

3 oz. breadcrumbs.

1½ gills sauce (No. 109).
Salt and pepper.
1 teaspoon chopped onion.

Mince the meat very fine, taking away the fat and skin; melt the butter and fry the onion to a light colour; put in the meat, breadcrumbs, sauce and seasoning; stir well together and bind with the egg beaten; grease a tin just large enough to hold the mixture; line it with brown breadcrumbs, fill in with the meat, cover with a greased paper, and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour. Turn out and serve, brown sauce round.

This makes a pretty dish if done in small dariole moulds instead of a large tin.

COLD MEAT OLIVES.

No. 220.

6 or 7 slices of cold meat.

† pint brown sauce (No. 109).

Salt and pepper.

Trim the meat neatly round the edges; the slices should be about 3 inches long by 2 wide; spread a thin layer of the forcemeat down the centre of each slice; roll up and tie them loosely round so as not to mark them; put them into the sauce cold and simmer gently for half an hour; dish them on a strip of mashed potato and sauce over and round; garnish the dish with any kind of vegetable.

CROQUETTES.

No. 221.

6 oz. cold meat.

1 teaspoon parsley.

1 teaspoon chopped onion.

A little grated nutmeg.

1 oz. butter.

1 oz. flour.

1 gill stock.

Salt and pepper.

Mince the cold meat very fine, taking away all the fat, skin and gristle; melt the butter and fry the onion to a light brown; add the flour and stock; boil to a thick sauce; put in the meat, parsley, nutmeg and seasoning; stir over the fire until the mixture is hot through; spread out on a plate to cool; when firm enough make up into small round balls, using a very little flour, if necessary, if the meat is beef or mutton; egg and crumb the croquettes twice to make them a nice colour; fry in the basket in smoking hot fat to a golden brown; drain and serve with fried parsley or brown sauce.

COLD MEAT OMELET.

No. 222.

2 oz. cold meat.

½ teaspoon chopped parsley.

½ teaspoon chopped onion.

3 eggs.
Salt and pepper.
1 oz. butter.

Chop the meat very fine; separate the whites from the yolks of eggs; put the yolks in a basin, mix in the meat, parsley, onion and seasoning; beat the whites to a stiff froth and stir in very lightly; make the butter hot in an omelet pan, gently boiling away from it the butter milk or water and then skim; pour in the omelet mixture; stir until just setting in a thick creamy state, then fold over to one side of the pan; turn on to a hot dish; garnish with fried parsley and serve at once.

DURHAM CUTLETS.

No. 223.

2 oz. cold meat.

1 oz. butter.

2 oz. Carolina rice.

Salt and pepper.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon chopped onion.

1 egg.

Chop the meat quite fine, removing the skin, fat and gristle; boil the rice in boiling salted water until quite tender; drain dry; melt the butter, cook the onion in it, add the meat, rice, parsley and seasoning; stir until hot over the fire, take off, and add sufficient of the egg (beaten) to bind the mixture well; spread out on a plate to set; when ready make up into small cutlets, egg and crumb them carefully, fry in hot fat to a good brown; serve in a circle on spinach or potato, with brown sauce round.

FRICASSEE OF COLD ROAST BEEF.

No. 224.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. cold beef.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ pint stock.

1 onion.
1 oz. ham.

l oz. ham.

4 oz. macaroni.

1 lb. mushrooms.

1 oz. butter.

doz. flour.

Salt and pepper.

1 teaspoon parsley.

Slice the beef into quarter-inch slices; make the butter hot; chop finely the onions, mushrooms, ham and parsley; fry these together for 5 or 10 minutes, stirring them about; next stir in the flour and stock by degrees; season and boil up; take off the fire and, when well off the boil, lay in the slices of beef; colour with a few drops of caramel and cook gently until the meat is tender; serve in a border of boiled macaroni (No. 223).

HASHED MUTTON.

No. 225.

Remains of cold mutton.	1 oz. butter.
1 carrot.	1 oz. flour.
1 turnip.	1 pint water.
1 onion.	6 peppercorns.
1 sprig parsley.	1 tomato.
1 sprig thyme.	Salt and pepper

Cut off all the meat in slices quite half an inch thick; break up the bones, put them into a stewpan with the cold water, vegetables cut in quarters, herbs and spices; add some seasoning and a few drops of caramel; simmer for 1½ hours; strain and remove any fat with kitchen paper; melt the butter, fry the flour brown in it, add the stock by degrees, and stir to the boil; skin and slice the tomato, place this in the thick sauce with the meat, and simmer very slowly until the meat is tender. Arrange the meat neatly on a dish, strain the sauce over, and sippets of dry toast round the dish.

LIEBIG PATTIES.

No. 226.

½ loaf bread. ½ pint Liebig's beef tea. Little grated nutmeg. Salt and pepper. 4 oz. cold meat.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. butter. $\frac{1}{3}$ oz. flour.

teaspoon chopped onion.

Cut the bread into a two-inch slice, and from this cut out some small rounds with a pastry cutter; take out the centre with a pointed knife, leaving a thin case all round; dissolve half a teaspoon of Liebeg's meat extract in half a pint of boiling water, allow it to cool, season with salt and pepper; dip the cases in this and turn them upside down to drain, then egg and crumb them carefully and prepare a little lid for each; fry them a nice colour in smoking hot fat; drain on paper.

Melt the butter and fry the onion a little; stir in the flour and the rest of the beef tea; boil to a thick sauce, into which put the meat finely chopped; season, add nutmeg and stir until hot; fill the cases high, put a lid on, dish on a paper and garnish with parsley,

MINCE.

No. 227.

1 lb. remains of cold meat.

1 carrot.

1 turnip.

1 onion.

1 sprig parsley. 1 sprig thyme.

1 oz. butter.

1 oz. flour.

1 pint water. 6 peppercorns.

Salt and pepper.

Put any bones and scraps from the meat into a pan with the water, vegetables cut up, parsley, thyme and peppercorns, a few drops of caramel and some seasoning; simmer gently for an hour; strain and take off the fat with a piece of kitchen paper; melt the butter, fry the flour brown in it, stir in half pint of the stock or a little more if required (but a mince should be thick); boil up, take off the fire and put in the meat freed from fat and gristle and chopped fine; stir over a gentle heat until hot through; serve in a potato border (No. 160) or with sippets of dry toast.

MINCE AND TOMATOES.

No. 228.

1 lb. cold meat.

1 teaspoon onion. } pint stock.

1 lb. tomatoes.

1 tablespoon brown breadcrumbs.

1 oz. butter.

doz. flour.

Salt and pepper.

A little grated nutmeg.

1 teaspoon parsley.

Mince the meat very fine; dissolve the butter, fry the onion in it a little; add the flour and stock by degrees, season with salt, pepper and a very little nutmeg; stir to the boil, take off the fire and put in the meat, turn into a pie dish: drop the tomatoes into boiling water half a minute, skin and slice them in rounds; put these over the mince as a crust, sprinkle with brown breadcrumbs, seasoning and parsley; bake in a moderate oven half an hour.

MINCE PUDDING.

4 oz. meat. 1 oz. butter. Salt and pepper.

6 oz. flour.

doz. flour. 13 gills stock. A little grated nutmeg. 2 oz. suet.

Skin, shred and chop the suet very fine, using a little of the flour to keep it free; rub it well into the flour, add a little salt and mix into a stiff paste with cold water; work the crust smooth and roll it out on a floured board a quarter of an inch thick; grease a basin and line it with the pastry; cut off the trimmings and roll them out for a lid; melt the butter, cook the ½ oz. flour in it, stir in the stock and boil up; season; add the meat chopped fine; pour into the lined basin; wet the edges of the crust and press the lid of pastry firmly to them; tie on a scalded and floured pudding cloth; plunge into boiling water and boil fast for 1 hour; turn out and pour round a little thickened stock flavoured with mushroom ketchup.

MINCE ROLLS.

No. 230.

1 lb. potatoes. 13 oz. butter.

1 egg.

3 oz. cold meat.

3 gill stock.

} oz. flour. 1 teaspoon chopped onion.

A little grated nutmeg.

Take half the butter, melt it and fry the onion in it until a light brown; add the flour and stock, boil up, season and add the meat very finely chopped; boil the potatoes and pass them through a wire sieve; melt the other half of the butter, put in the potatoes, a little nutmeg and seasoning; stir until hot over the fire, take off and add the beaten egg. Take a small quantity of this and roll it into a small ball with the hand on a slightly floured board, flatten out to about half an inch thick; put a dessertspoon of the meat mixture in the centre; egg the edges of the potato and fold them over the meat; turn the roll over, pat it into a nice shape flat at the ends with a knife, and so on until the meat and potatoes are used up; place the rolls on a greased baking-tin, brush them with beaten egg, sprinkle with red crumbs and bake for 20 to 30 minutes in a brisk oven; garnish with parsley.

ROMAN PUDDING.

No. 231.

Remains of cold rabbit, veal or chicken.

½ pint white sauce (No. 133).

4 oz. short crust (No. 239).

2 oz. macaroni.2 oz. Parmesan cheese.

½ pint brown sauce (No. 109). Vermicelli.

Grease a pint cake tin and sprinkle it all over with broken up vermicelli; roll out the short crust quite thin and line the tin right through with it; cut off the edges; boil the macaroni, drain it and cut it into short lengths; cut the rabbit into small thin slices, heat the white sauce and stir in the rabbit, macaroni and cheese; fill the mould with this mixture, place a lid of pastry on top, pressing the edges firmly together with a little egg; bake in a good oven for 1 hour; turn out and pour round a good brown sauce.

SURPRISE POTATOES.

No. 232.

3 oz. mince (No. 227). Salt and pepper. 6 large potatoes.

Choose good even-sized potatoes, scrub them quite clean, cut them in half and with a knife scoop out a good hole in each; season them with salt and pepper and fill the holes with the mince; make a stiffish paste of flour and water, brush the cut sides of the potatoes with it and stick them together again, being careful to put the right halves together or they will not stick in the cooking; bake the potatoes for about 1 hour in a quick oven. Serve on a napkin with parsley to garnish.

SCOLLOPS OF RABBIT.

No. 233.

6 oz. cold cooked rabbit. ½ pint white sauce (No. 133).

3 oz. cooked ham.
3 oz. breadcrumbs.

1 oz. butter.

Butter some scollop shells and sprinkle them with breadcrumbs; chop the rabbit and ham finely and mix into the sauce; season well; half fill the shells with layers of rabbit and breadcrumbs, using crumbs last; place a pat of butter on the top of each and bake for 15 to 20 minutes. Serve decorated with parsley.

TIMBALE OF COLD MEAT.

No. 234.

4 oz. cold mutton.

1 teaspoon chopped parsley.

1 teaspoon chopped onion.

Red breadcrumbs.

A little nutmeg.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. tomatoes.

1 oz. butter.

1 egg.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ lb. potatoes.

Grease a plain cake tin with butter and sprinkle it all round with red breadcrumbs; sieve the potatoes; melt the butter, put in the potatoes, salt, pepper and a little nutmeg; stir over the fire until hot, then beat in the egg well beaten; drop some of this into the mould and with a spoon dipped in hot water line the tin thinly all round, working from the middle; skin and slice the tomatoes and cut the meat into small thin wafers; fill the mould with meat, tomatoes here and there, and sprinkle with onion and parsley, salt and pepper; spread a lid of potatoes over the top, brush with egg and bake about an hour. Turn out and serve with the rest of the tomatoes, stewed down in a little butter and water to a sauce round the dish.

VEAL ITALIAN STYLE.

No. 235.

1 lb. macaroni.

4 oz. breadcrumbs.

1 gill veal stock.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon grated lemon.

1 gill brown sauce.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. cooked veal.

2 oz. cooked ham. Salt and cavenne.

1 whole egg.

1 yolk.

Boil the macaroni tender (No. 423), but do not break it; butter a plain mould well and line it neatly round with the macaroni; mix together the breadcrumbs (previously soaked in the veal stock), the veal and ham minced, seasoning, brown sauce, lemon and eggs beaten; pour carefully into the prepared mould, cover with a pudding cloth, plunge into boiling water and boil 1 hour. Serve with brown sauce round.

PASTRY, PUDDINGS AND SWEETS.

CORNFLOUR PASTRY.

No. 236.

3 oz. cornflour.

4 oz. flour.

Beaten egg and milk.

3 oz. butter.

2 oz. castor sugar.

Put the cornflour and flour into a mixing basin; rub the butter lightly into it; add the sugar and mix in enough beaten egg and milk to form a stiff paste; work up into a smooth ball. This is a nice light pastry for lining dishes and plates for different sweets.

CHOUX PASTRY.

No. 236a.

4 oz. flour.

h pint water.

A pinch of salt.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. butter. 1 whole egg.

1 yolk.

Dry and sift the flour; boil the water and butter together in a saucepan; take off the fire; stir in the flour all at once; beat vigorously until no lumps remain; cook over a slow fire for a few minutes, beating all the time, until the pastry takes an oily appearance; take off the fire and beat in the eggs and salt; turn on to a floured board and make in the required shapes.

FLAKY PASTRY.

No. 237.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. flour. A pinch of salt. 3 oz. lard. Cold water.

Pass the flour through a sieve into a mixing basin; take half the lard and rub it lightly into the flour with the tips of the fingers, keeping the flour as cool as possible; add the salt and mix into a stiff paste with cold water (the less water used the better, so long as the crust is not made tough); rub a little flour well into the board and on the rolling-pin; roll the pastry into a long strip, square at the edges, about an eighth of an inch thick. Divide the other half of the lard into three, lay one part in little pieces all down the crust evenly, dust slightly with flour, fold the crust into three; give it one turn round so that the open flap of pastry is at your right hand, seal the edges to keep in the air and roll out the same thickness again, commencing from the middle, so as to disperse the air in tiny bubbles all over the crust; proceed in this way until all the fat is rolled in, and if it is not thoroughly mixed with three rolls, give it one or even two rolls without any fat, always folding into three.

ROUGH PUFF PASTRY.

No. 238.

½ lb. flour.1 dessertspoon lemon juice.A pinch of salt.

 $2\frac{1}{2}$ oz. lard. $2\frac{1}{2}$ oz. butter.

Cold water.

Pass the flour through a wire sieve on to the pastry board; put the fat on it and with a sharp knife cut it into the flour in pieces about the size of half a walnut; make a well in the middle; mix the lemon with about three parts of a gill of cold water; draw the flour and butter into a rough paste with it (do not keep the pastry long in the hand, but put it on one side as it is mixed up); clean the board and flour it well; roll the pastry out into a long strip, square at the edges; fold into three, folding the top end to the centre first; turn round once and roll out again, observing the same rules as in making flaky pastry, four or five times if necessary, to mix in the fat. When it is done it should appear quite free from streaks of fat and smooth. This, like most of the other pastries, requires a good oven for baking.

SHORT PASTRY (for savoury dishes).

No. 239.

1 lb. flour.

} teaspoon salt.

3 oz. butter, dripping or lard. 1/2 teaspoon baking powder.

Sieve the flour into a basin; rub the fat in lightly, first covering it with flour and breaking into small pieces; when thoroughly incorporated, add salt and baking powder and mix into a smooth paste, stiff, with cold water; work it smooth with a little flour, using as little as possible, and roll out once on a floured board.

SHORT PASTRY (for sweet dishes).

No. 240.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. flour.

3 oz. lard, butter or dripping. A good pinch of salt.

½ teaspoon sugar.
½ teaspoon baking powder.

Make exactly as in the preceding recipe.

SUET CRUST.

No. 241.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. flour.

3 oz. suet. Cold water.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt.

Sieve the flour, skin, shred and then chop the suet very fine, using some of the flour to keep it free; rub it well into the flour, add the salt and mix into a stiff paste with cold water; roll out once on a floured board.

APRICOT SWEET.

No. 242.

2 oz. butter.

2 oz. castor sugar.

2 eggs.

1 tablespoon apricot jam.

1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Crystallised cherries.

3 oz. flour.

½ teaspoon baking powder.

1 teaspoon vanilla essence.

1 gill water.

1 oz. loaf sugar.

1 oz. cocoanut.

Butter eight small dariole moulds and dredge them with flour; beat the butter and sugar to a soft cream, smooth and nearly white; stir in the eggs one at a time thoroughly; add the vanilla and flour by degrees, lastly the baking powder; half fill the moulds and bake to a light brown 15 to 20 minutes in a moderate oven; turn out. In the meantime the sauce should be made. Put the apricot jam, water or sherry, sugar and lemon into a saucepan and boil gently to a nice syrup; do not stir, but skim off all scum as it rises (it will take about 10 minutes); soak the cakes with the syrup while it is hot and do not strain it; place half a cherry on the top of each and sprinkle round it a little cocoanut. Serve hot or cold.

APRICOT EGGS.

No. 243.

A sixpenny spongecake.

4 pistachio kernels.

A few drops of vanilla.

½ tin apricots.

½ pint cream.

doz. castor sugar.

Cut the spongecake into slices a quarter of an inch thick, then into rounds a shade larger than half an apricot with a fluted cutter; sprinkle a little of the apricot syrup over them; place half an apricot on each, choosing the ripest ones; whisk the cream stiffly; mix it with the sugar and vanilla; put it into a forcing bag and force the cream round the edge of the apricot to represent the white part of a poached egg; blanch and chop the kernels very fine, sprinkle a little on top of each egg. Serve on a lace paper.

ALMOND CREAM.

No. 244.

1 lb. apples.

1 oz. loaf sugar.

2 strips lemon rind.

2 drops almond essence.

6 oz. castor sugar.

4 oz. ground almonds.

2 oz. butter.

3 eggs.

} pint cream.

Stew the apples to a thick marmalade, peel and core them and stew them gently with a very little water, the lemon and loaf sugar; do not stir them while they are cooking, but shake the pan from time to time; place them at the bottom of a pie dish, taking out the lemon; dissolve the butter in a pan, put in the castor sugar, almonds, essence and eggs beaten to a light froth; mix well together; lay this on the apples and bake moderately for about half an hour; when cold, whisk the cream, sweeten and flavour it slightly with almond essence; pile on top of the almond. Serve with a pie frill round the dish.

ALMOND CHEESE CAKES.

No. 245.

6 oz. short crust.

2 oz. ground almonds.

2 drops almond essence.

2 oz, castor sugar,

1 egg.

Raspberry jam.

Roll the pastry rather thin and line some greased patty pans (10 or 12), cutting the pastry with a fluted cutter; place half a teaspoon of jam in the middle of each; mix the almonds, essence, sugar, yolk of egg and white whisked stiffly well together; put a teaspoonful in each patty pan, well covering the jam; place very narrow matches of pastry across the top; bake for 15 to 20 minutes in a moderate oven; dust with sugar.

ALMOND PUDDING.

No. 246.

4 oz. breadcrumbs.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. almonds. 2 oz. sultanas.

2 drops almond essence.

2 oz. suet.

2 oz. castor sugar.

2 eggs.

Chop the suet very fine, using some of the breadcrumbs to help to keep it free; wash the sultanas, blanch and chop the almonds, whisk the eggs to a light froth; mix all the ingredients well together; pour into a greased mould, cover with greased paper, steam $1\frac{1}{2}$ hours, turn out and serve with custard sauce (No. 114) flavoured with almond poured round.

APRICOT MOULD.

No. 247.

1 tin apricots.
1 oz. cornflour.

3 oz. castor sugar. A few drops cochineal.

Pass the apricots through a hair sieve, add the sugar and cochineal and stir to the boil in an enamel saucepan; mix the cornflour into a smooth cream with cold water, pour on the apricots, stir well, return to the saucepan and boil until quite clear, stirring well all the time; turn into a wetted mould and when cold turn out.

These moulds can be done in the same way with any kind of fruit, or they may be set with $\frac{3}{4}$ oz. gelatine dissolved and stirred into the fruit.

AMBER JELLIES.

No. 248.

Juice of 2 lemons.
Rind of 1 lemon.
3 cloves.
$\frac{2}{3} \text{ oz. gelatine.}

2 eggs.

³/₄ pint water.

3 oz. loaf sugar.

Peel the lemon very thin; put it into a stewpan with the eggs whisked and all the other ingredients; stir over a very slow fire for 10 minutes; strain into a basin, stir until nearly cold and pour into a wetted mould; when set, dip into hot water and turn out immediately.

APPLE FRITTERS.

No. 249.

1 lb. apples.1 gill tepid water.1 egg.

4 oz. flour.

1 teaspoon salad oil.

Sugar.

Peel the apples and slice them rather thinly; with a round cutter stamp out the core; put the flour into a basin and stir into it the oil, yolk of the egg and water; stir smooth and beat the batter for 5 minutes; whisk the white of the egg to a stiff froth with a pinch of salt and mix lightly in; pass the apple rings through the batter, take them out on a skewer and drop them carefully into smoking hot fat; fry to a light golden colour; drain them on paper and dust well with castor sugar.

N.B.—The same batter will do for all fruit fritters.

BAKEWELL TART.

No. 250.

½ lb. short crust (No. 240).

2 oz. butter.

1 egg.

1 tablespoon milk.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. ground rice.

2 oz. castor sugar.

1 teaspoon baking powder.

2 tablespoons strawberry jam.

Grease a pudding plate and line it with the pastry rolled out an eighth of an inch thick; prick the middle of the pastry well all over and spread on the jam; beat the butter and sugar to a smooth cream with a wooden spoon, whisk the egg and stir it in; lastly the ground rice and baking powder; cover the jam thickly with this mixture; bake in a quick oven half an hour; dust with sugar and slip on to a sieve to cool.

BANBURY CAKES.

No. 251.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. rough puff pastry. 2 oz. sultanas.

2 oz. candied peel. Rind and juice of 1 lemon.

2 oz. butter.

2 oz. castor sugar. 1 teaspoon spice.

2 oz. raisins.

3 wineglass brandy.

Roll the pastry out a quarter inch thick; cut out some oval shapes with a plain cutter; stone and chop the raisins; clean currants and sultanas; slice the peel small and thin (the spice is to be equal quantities of nutmeg, cinnamon and ground ginger); dissolve the butter; take off the fire and stir into it all the ingredients; place a dessertspoon of the mixture in the centre of each shape of pastry; wet the edges and seal them over the fruit; turn the cakes over and slightly flatten them with a rolling-pin; place on a greased baking-tin and bake 20 to 30 minutes in a quick oven; brush over the top of each with beaten white of egg and dust with sugar; set this in the oven for 5 minutes. Put on a sieve until cold.

BROWN BREAD AND BUTTER PUDDING.

No. 252.

3 oz. brown bread. $\frac{1}{2}$ pint milk. Marmalade. 2 eggs. A little grated nutmeg. 2 oz. sugar.

Slice the bread quite thin and spread it with butter, then rather thickly with marmalade; cut into small oblong pieces and place lightly in a greased pie dish; whisk the eggs to a light froth and mix with the sugar and milk; pour over the bread, sprinkle the nutmeg on top, stand by for 10 minutes to soak, then bake in a moderate oven for 20 to 30 minutes; dust with sugar.

BLANC-MANGE.

No. 253.

1 pint milk. $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. castor sugar. $\frac{3}{4}$ oz. gelatine. Cochineal. 2 strips lemon. Pinch of salt.

Put the milk, flavouring and sugar on the fire and stir until it is hot; add the gelatine and continue stirring over a gentle heat until it is quite dissolved; strain into two basins, colour one half with cochineal to a pale pink; stir the milk until nearly cold; pour into small wetted moulds; when set, plunge into hot water and turn out quickly.

BOILED CUSTARD (for glasses).

No. 254.

³/₄ pint milk.
1 strip lemon rind.
1 whole egg.
1 joz. castor sugar.
2 yolks.

Whisk the eggs in a basin until very light; boil the milk and whisk it a little at a time to the eggs, taking care not to curdle them; strain into a jug; add the lemon; stand the jug in a pan of simmering water and stir until the custard turns sufficiently thick to coat the spoon; take out of the water, add the sugar, take out the lemon and stir until the custard is cold to prevent a scum forming on the top; pour into custard glasses and put two grates of nutmeg on top of each.

BLAKEMORE PUDDING.

No. 255.

Cornflour pastry (No. 236). Juice and rind of 1 lemon.

2 tablespoons jam. One 1d. spongecake.

Divide the pastry; roll it out on a floured board and line a greased pudding plate with one half; crumble the spongecake; grate the lemon and squeeze the juice; mix these together with the jam; prick the middle of the pastry well over and spread on the mixture; cover with the other half of pastry rolled out; decorate the edges with a pastry jagger and bake for 20 to 30 minutes; dust with sugar.

COLD SAGO PUDDING.

No. 256.

1 pint milk.

2 eggs.

1 teaspoon essence of vanilla.

2 oz. small sago.

2 tablespoons jam.

2oz. castor sugar.

Wash the sago and boil it gently in the milk, stirring until it is quite cooked and the milk is thick; take off the fire; add the vanilla, sugar and yolks of the eggs; put the jam at the bottom of a sweet dish; pour over the sago; put a pinch of salt with the whites, also one drop of cochineal and whisk to a stiff froth; mix into them lightly 2 oz. castor sugar; pile on the top of the sago and set in a cool oven until the meringue is set, but it is not to be coloured.

COMPÔTE OF ORANGES AND COCOANUT.

No. 257.

6 juicy oranges. 2 oz. cocoanut.

1 gill water. 2 oz. loaf sugar.

Take the thin rind of one orange, put it into an enamel pan with the water and sugar; boil gently to a nice thick syrup about 10 minutes, skimming it to keep it clear; strain and allow to go cold; peel all the oranges and take away every particle of the bitter, white pith; slice them a quarter of an inch thick and take out the pips with a teaspoon; arrange the slices in a glass dish with layers of cocoanut in between; pour the syrup over and stand by an hour or so before serving. Tangerine oranges are nice for this dish.

COCOANUT PUDDING.

No. 258.

6 oz. short crust (No. 240).

½ pint milk.
1 oz. cake crumbs.
3 oz. cocoanut.

2 oz. sugar. $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. butter. 2 eggs.

Grease a pie dish; roll out the pastry thin; cut it into strips and line round the sides half-way down, pressing the pastry a little over the edges to allow for shrinking in the cooking; cut out some small shapes of pastry and arrange them prettily round the edge, first slightly wetting the pastry to make them stick; stew the cocoanut in the milk slowly by the side of the fire until it is quite tender, stirring it occasionally; cream the butter and sugar; stir in the yolks of the eggs, the cake crumbs and cocoanut, lastly add the whites of eggs whisked to a stiff froth; pour into the pie dish and bake in a moderate oven half an hour; dust with sugar. Serve hot or cold.

CUSTARD CORNETS.

No. 259.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. flaky pastry (No. 237). Jam.

1 oz. castor sugar.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon vanilla essence.

½ pint milk.

1 dessertspoon cornflour.

Yolks of 2 eggs.

Cherries.

Roll the pastry into a long thin piece and cut into strips about $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches wide; wet down the right hand side of the strip with water or beaten egg; take 6 or 8 small cornet moulds, grease them on the outside, place them on the strips of pastry slightly slanted; roll the mould in the pastry until it is quite covered, trim off to the shape at the top; place the cornets on a greased tin and bake 15 minutes; slip out the moulds and allow the pastry to cool, when place a little jam at the bottom of each one; stir the cornflour smooth in a basin with a little of the milk; boil the rest and pour it on, stirring; boil for 2 or 3 minutes; take off the fire and add the yolks, sugar and vanilla; fill the moulds with this custard when it is cold; place half a cherry on top and dust with sugar.

1 tablespoon cornflour.

13 oz. almonds.

Put the cocoa, sugar and cornflour into a mixing basin and stir to a smooth cream with a little of the cold milk; boil the rest and pour on to the cocoa; stir well and boil for 5 minutes to make the cream very shiny; take off the fire and stir in the yolks of the eggs and vanilla; pour this into a sweet dish; whisk the whites stiff with a pinch of salt and mix with 2 oz. castor sugar; pile on the top in a pyramidal form, grate over the top a little chocolate; blanch and shred the almonds and sprinkle them on the cocoa.

N.B.—If preferred the meringue may be baked crisp first in a very cool oven.

COCOA MOULD.

No. 264.

1 pint milk.

2 dessertspoons cornflour.

1 tablespoon sugar.

2 dessertspoons Cadbury's cocoa.

Mix together the cocoa, cornflour and sugar; stir them to a smooth cream with a little of the milk; boil the rest and pour on, stirring well to prevent the mixture becoming lumpy; boil well for 4 or 5 minutes and pour into a wetted mould; when set, turn out and serve with custard sauce flavoured with vanilla (No. 114).

COFFEE SHAPE.

No. 265.

3 pint milk. # pint strong coffee. 1 tablespoon cornflour. 1 tablespoon sugar.

Stir the cornflour smooth with a little cold milk; boil the rest and the coffee; pour on to the cornflour; stir well and return to the pan; boil 3 or 4 minutes; take off the fire and add the sugar; pour into a wetted mould and set.

1 teaspoon baking powder.

2 eggs.

1 teaspoon carraway seeds.

Rub the butter well into the flour; add the seeds, sugar, baking powder and a pinch of salt; whisk the eggs and add to the milk; stir into the flour, but do not beat; pour into a greased tin and bake about 40 minutes (a hot oven for the first 15 minutes and cooler one after).

SULTANA CAKE.

No. 353.

1 lb. flour.

6 oz. butter, lard or dripping. 1 teaspoon baking powder.

14 gills milk.

6 oz. sugar.

½ lb. sultanas.

3 oz. candied peel.

A little nutmeg.

2 eggs.

Rub the fat into the flour very thoroughly; wash and dry the sultanas; cut the peel thin; add all the dry ingredients; beat the eggs and mix with the milk; stir in lightly; pour into a greased tin and bake about 1½ hours.

SWISS ROLL.

No. 354.

3 eggs. 4 oz. castor sugar. 3 oz. flour. Jam.

Whisk the eggs in a large basin to a light froth; add the sugar and beat over steam until the mixture is thick and nearly white; take off the fire and beat until nearly cold; stir in the flour as lightly as possible; grease a Swiss roll tin and line it with greased paper, allowing the paper to come 2 inches above the edges to preserve the colour of the cake; pour in the mixture, spread it even and bake in a good oven from 5 to 7 minutes (not longer, or it will crack in the rolling); turn out on a sugared paper; spread over thinly and quickly with warm jam; roll up and dust well with sugar.

SIMNEL CAKE.

No. 355.

8 oz. butter.

12 oz. flour.

5 eggs.

1 teaspoon mixed spice.

1 lb. ground almonds.

12 oz. currants.

1 lb. castor sugar.

4 oz. candied peel.

d teaspoon baking powder.

Juice of half a lemon.

First make an almond paste; mix together in a basin half the sugar and the almonds; melt 2 oz. of the butter; separate the whites of 2 of the eggs, and whisk them stiff; add these with the yolks to the almonds and work into a paste; roll out; cream the butter and sugar, add the spice and beat in the eggs one at a time; stir in the flour by degrees and, lastly, the fruit and baking powder; grease a square tin, line it with greased paper; put in half the cake mixture and spread over half the almond paste, then the other half of the cake; bake in a good oven about 2 to 3 hours; when the cake is about three parts cooked arrange the other half of the almond paste in a roll round the top of it and finish baking slowly; decorate in the centre with comfits or fruits and dust with icing sugar.

SPONGE PARKIN.

No. 356.

13 lb. flour.

1 lb. treacle.

3 teaspoons ground ginger.

1 sprig parsley.

pint stock (No. 2).

1 small stick celery.

3 white peppercorns.

1 tablespoon cream or yolk of 1 egg.

1 teaspoon lemon juice.

Blanch the sweetbread thus: Wash it and put it in a clean saucepan covered with cold water; bring to the boil and simmer it gently from 3 to 5 minutes, according to its thickness (this will make it firm and white); put it into cold water a minute, then dry it and cut away the fat and gristle; cut the vegetables into thick slices; put them in a saucepan with the parsley, peppercorns and stock; bring to the boil; lay the sweetbread on top and cover with a piece of kitchen paper; simmer gently for about three-quarters of an hour; take up the bread; strain the stock; melt the butter; cook the flour in it; stir in the stock and boil up; take off the fire; add the cream and lemon juice; pour over the sweetbread and serve with sippets of dry toast.

BRAISED PIGEON.

No. 383.

1 small pigeon.
1 teaspoon cornflour.
1 teaspoon sherry.
2 pint stock or water.
A small piece each of carrot, turnip and onion.

This is best done by boning the pigeon for an invalid. Begin at the neck end and carefully scrape off all the meat, working round the body without breaking the skin; make into a neat shape and tie in a piece of muslin; cut up the vegetables; lay them in a saucepan with the bones, stock, parsley and peppercorns; bring to the boil; place the pigeon on top; cover with a piece of paper and simmer gently for about 40 minutes; strain the stock; stir the cornflour smooth with a little cold stock; mix it with the braising stock and boil up; season, add the sherry and pour over the pigeon. Serve with a little boiled rice (No. 422).

CHICKEN BROTH.

No. 384.

1 chicken.
1 blade mace.

1 dessertspoon chopped parsley (No. 432). 1 quart water.
1 oz. rice or barley.

1 teaspoon salt.
1 small onion.

Cut off the breast and meat from the wings; these will do for another dish.

Cut up the rest of the chicken into small joints; put in a saucepan with the water cold, salt and bring to the boil; draw off the fire and skim; slice the onion thin and wash the rice; put them in with the mace and simmer very gently for 2 hours; take out all the bones and mace; put the parsley in the tureen and pour the broth over, or the broth can all be passed through a hair sieve and a little milk added. If there is any chicken fat floating in the broth, remove it with kitchen paper.

CHICKEN QUENELLES.

No. 385.

1 lb. chicken.

½ oz. butter.

½ oz. flour.
½ gill milk.

1 whole egg. 1 yolk.

Salt and pepper.

Use the breast and tender parts of chicken; take off the skin and sinews and pass the meat through a mincing machine; melt the butter; cook the flour in it a little; stir in the milk and boil to a creamy thick sauce; allow it to cool and then pound it in the mortar with the eggs and chicken; pass it all through a wire sieve with a wooden spoon; form in a dessertspoon into quenelles, making them neat with a knife dipped in hot water; drop them carefully into a greased frying pan; cover with simmering water and cook gently for 5 or 6 minutes; drain and serve in a circle with a little plain sauce over.

CHICKEN CREAM.

No. 386.

6 oz. tender raw chicken.

Salt to taste.

1½ gills cream.

Shred the meat fine and pound it in a mortar; pass it through a wire sieve and season with a little salt; whip the cream, not too stiff, and mix it lightly with the chicken; put into a buttered mould; cover with a greased paper and steam very gently for about 20 to 30 minutes; turn out and serve a little plain sauce with it or sippets of dry toast.

CHICKEN MINCE.

No. 387.

6 oz. tender raw chicken. ½ oz. butter.
Small blade mace.
Salt.

½ oz. flour.
½ gills milk or stock from the bones.
1 yolk of egg.

Scrape or shred the meat very fine, taking away the skin and any sinews; melt the butter; stir the chicken in it for a few minutes until it turns white; add the flour; take off the fire and stir in the stock by degrees; add the salt and mace; stir until it thickens, but do not boil; cook very gently for nearly an hour, or until the meat is quite tender; take off the fire; stir in the egg yolk and a dust of very finely-chopped parsley; take out the mace and serve with sippets of dry toast.

CABINET PUDDINGS.

No. 388.

2 penny spongecakes.
½ oz. sugar.
A little grated lemon.

 $\frac{2 \text{ eggs.}}{1\frac{1}{2} \text{ gills milk.}}$ Jam sauce.

Grease small dariole moulds; cut the cakes into slices and fill the moulds lightly; take away one white and whisk the eggs to a froth; mix with the milk and add the sugar and lemon; fill the little moulds; cover them securely with greased paper and steam them gently about half an hour; turn out and pour round a little jam sauce.

CORNFLOUR GRUEL.

No. 389.

½ pint milk. Sugar to taste.

A pinch of salt.

1 teaspoon cornflour.
1 strip lemon.

Mix the cornflour smooth with a little of the milk; bring the remaining milk to the boil with the strip of lemon; pour to the cornflour, stirring well; return it to the pan and boil for 2 minutes; take out the lemon; add salt and sugar.

EGG JELLIES.

No. 390.

egg.
 oz. loaf sugar.
 sheets gelatine.

1 lemon.

Whisk the egg to a froth; peel the lemon very thinly and squeeze the juice; put all the ingredients together in an enamel pan and stir over a slow fire for 10 minutes, taking care the egg does not curdle; strain and stir in a basin until nearly cold, when pour into small wetted moulds. When set dip them into hot water and turn out. A little whipped cream is nice served with these.

EGG IN A NEST.

No. 391.

1 small round of buttered toast. A little salt.
1 fresh egg.

Put the toast on a baking sheet; separate the white and put the yolk carefully on the centre of the toast without breaking; whisk the white stiffly with a good pinch of salt and pile it lightly all round the yolk; put in a cool oven for 5 minutes just to set the egg; serve at once.

FLORADOR PUDDING.

No. 392.

3 pint milk. 1 egg. doz. sugar.

1 strip lemon rind. 3 oz. medium florador.

Boil the milk; shake in the florador and stir until it is quite smooth and thick; take off the fire; stir in the sugar, lemon and yolk of the egg; whisk the white to a stiff froth and stir in lightly; bake in a greased pie dish 10 minutes; dust with sugar and serve hot or cold.

FILLETS OF SOLE.

No. 393.

1 small sole. 1 sprig parsley.

3 oz. butter.

1 oz. flour.

1 gill milk. 1 gill water. Salt.

Take the skins off the sole and fillet it; season the fillets slightly with salt and sprinkle over them a little lemon juice; roll or fold them up, putting the side which was nearest the bone outside; place on a buttered tin, cover with a greased paper and cook in a slow oven for 5 or 6 minutes. In the meantime take off the head, break up the bones and put them to simmer gently with the milk, water and parsley for a few minutes, then strain the stock; melt the butter, cook the flour in it without browning, take off the fire and stir in the stock a little at a time; boil up and pour over the fillets on a dish; garnish with a little chopped parsley.

FISH SOUFFLÉ.

No. 394.

1 whiting.

3 oz. butter.

doz. flour. A little salt. ∄ gill milk. 1 whole egg.

1 volk.

Melt the butter; stir in the flour; add the milk and boil to a thick sauce, stirring it well the whole time; take the flesh from the whiting; pound it in a mortar, with the sauce and egg yolks until quite fine and well mixed; pass it through a wire sieve; whisk the white lightly and mix in; pour the mixture into a greased tin, cover with a buttered paper and steam gently for 20 to 30 minutes; pour over a little light sauce made from the bones as in (No. 393).

LEMONADE.

No. 395.

1 juicy lemon. 3 lumps sugar. 1 pint water.

Peel half the lemon off very thin, then remove all the white bitter pith; cut the lemon in thin slices and take out the pips with a spoon; put the slices, sugar and rind into a jug; pour the water over them boiling; cover the jug and stand by until cold, when strain through muslin. Orangeade is made in the same way.

MUTTON BROTH.

No. 396.

1 lb. middle neck of mutton. Salt.

1 sprig parsley. ½ oz. rice.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ pints water.

Take away all fat and marrow from the meat and cut it into small joints; put them into a saucepan with the cold water and half a teaspoon of salt; bring gently to the boil; take off the fire and skim away every particle of scum; add the rice and parsley, and even a little onion if allowed, and simmer very gently for 2 hours; take out the meat and remove all traces of fat. Serve with a little finely-chopped parsley (No. 432) in the cup.

MUTTON TEA.

No. 397.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. lean mutton.

Salt.

½ pint water.

Take away all fat and bone and shred the meat very fine, then proceed as for beef-tea (No. 376).

NOURISHING GRUEL.

No. 398.

} pint milk.

1 teaspoon arrowroot.

1 teaspoon sugar.

1 tablespoon sherry or brandy.

1 egg.

NOURISHING FILLIP.

No. 399.

4 whole eggs.

1 saccharin tabloid. 1

3 pint brandy.

2 lemons.

1½ pints cold milk.

Wash the eggs and place them in a basin in their shells, with the lemon juice strained over them; cover and stand by 3 days, turning them each day; when the shell is dissolved, beat the eggs and lemon well together and strain into a jug; add to this the tabloid and spirit; stir well and mix in the milk; bottle and keep for use. Dose:—one wineglass twice a day.

RAW BEEF-TEA.

No. 400.

4 oz. lean, juicy beef. A pinch of salt. 4 tablespoons cold water.

Scrape the beef very fine; put it in a basin with the salt and water; cover over and let it soak about 2 hours, stirring it about once or twice; then press out all the juice from the meat; serve in a coloured glass, or it may be frozen and served in small lumps.

STEAMED CUSTARD.

No. 401.

1 egg.

pint milk.

1 teaspoon sugar.

1 thin strip lemon.

Beat the egg light; mix with the sugar and strain it into a buttered cup or basin; put in the lemon; cover with a greased paper; place the cup in a saucepan with enough hot water to come half-way up the outside; steam very slowly until lightly set (about 20 minutes); turn out carefully.

STEAMED SOLE.

No. 402.

1 small sole.

Lemon juice. Parsley.

Fillet the sole; season each one with a very little salt and fold them into three, folding the side which was nearest the bone outside; place them on a saucer; sprinkle with a little lemon and salt; cover over and stand the saucer on a basin in a pan half full of simmering water; cook in this way for 5 or 6 minutes; dish; pour the liquor over them; garnish with parsley.

STEWED OYSTERS.

No. 403.

1 dozen oysters.

1 blade mace.

1½ gills milk. Salt.

3 oz. butter. ½ oz. flour.

The oyster liquor.

Beard the oysters and remove the hard muscles; put the beards, liquor and milk into a saucepan with the mace and a little salt; simmer gently for 4 or 5 minutes; strain this stock; melt the butter; cook the flour in it a minute or so without browning; take off the fire and mix in the stock smoothly; stir to the boil; when just off the boil put in the oysters whole for about 4 minutes to warm them through. Serve with sippets of dry toast and garnish with parsley.

STEWED RICE.

No. 404.

1 pint milk. 1 strip lemon. 13 oz. Carolina rice. Sugar to taste.

Wash the rice well; put it into an enamel saucepan and cover it with cold water; put on the lid and boil carefully until the water has evaporated; this will partly swell the grain and the rice will not be so apt to stick and burn to the pan; add the milk and lemon and stew very gently, stirring frequently, until quite tender; allow plenty of time, perhaps an hour and a half; add more milk if required; take out the lemon and sugar to taste; set in a mould.

STEWED APPLES.

No. 405.

6 even-sized apples. 3 gill sherry.

1 strip lemon.

Cochineal.

2 oz. loaf sugar.

d pint water. 4 cloves.

Peel the apples thinly and with a corer take out the cores without breaking the apples; put the water, sherry, sugar, lemon, cloves and some cochineal into an enamel saucepan and boil for about 10 or 15 minutes to a nice syrup; put in the apples and strew the rinds over them; cover with the lid and stew gently until the apples are tender, but do not allow them to break; place them in a glass dish, and when the syrup is cold strain it over them. These may be served with a little whipped cream.

SWEET OMELET.

No. 406.

2 eggs. $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. butter.

2 oz. castor sugar. 1 dessertspoon jam.

Separate the whites from the yolks of the eggs and cream the yolks in a basin with a wooden spoon until they are thick and nearly white; whisk the whites and mix them in very lightly; clarify the butter (No. 416) in a small omelet pan; pour in the mixture and place the pan in a moderate oven for from 5 to 7 minutes; the eggs should take a pale colour, set, and rise up well; turn out on to a sugared paper; place the jam warmed on one side of the omelet; fold the other over; serve at once dusted with sugar.

SPONGECAKE PUDDING.

No. 407.

2 penny spongecakes.

½ pint milk.
A little vanilla.

2 eggs.

Slice the cakes into thin pieces; place them in a pie dish; whisk the eggs light and mix them with the milk; add vanilla; pour over the cakes and bake 10 to 15 minutes; dust with sugar.

TOAST WATER.

No. 408.

1 thick crust of bread.

1 pint water.

Toast the crust to a very dark colour without burning it; put it in a jug whole and just cover it with boiling water; cover the jug and stand by for 10 minutes, then pour on the cold water and soak for 2 hours; strain.

VEAL AND SAGO BROTH.

No. 409.

1 lb. lean knuckle of veal.

1 oz. small sago.

1 oz. small sago.

Salt.

1 yolk of egg.

Take away any fat and cut the meat up rather small; put it into a stewpan with half a teaspoon salt and the water; bring to the boil and skim; wash and add the sago and simmer gently about 2 hours; pound the meat and pass it with the broth through a wire sieve; stir in the yolk of the egg and stir over a slow fire until hot enough to serve, but do not boil. Serve with toast.

WINE WHEY.

No. 410.

½ pint milk.

wineglass sherry.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. sugar.

Boil the milk; add the sugar and sherry; when it is well curdled strain the milk through muslin. Lemon whey would be made in the same way, using the juice of half a small lemon instead of the wine. It is a less heating drink than the wine whey.

WINE JELLY.

No. 411.

1½ pints water.

1½ gills sherry.½ gill brandy.

· Rind of 2 lemons.

2 whites and shells of egg.

1 gill lemon juice. 4 oz. loaf sugar.

3 cloves.

1 inch stick einnamon.

11 oz. gelatine.

Whisk the whites of egg to a stiff froth; wash the shells in a little salted water and crush them up; peel the lemons very thin; strain the juice; put all the ingredients except the brandy into a clean saucepan and whisk over the fire until boiling; ease the lid on the pan and keep the jelly by the side of the fire to clear for 15 minutes; strain twice through a scalded linen cloth and add the brandy; mould and set; dip into hot water and turn out; decorate with a little of the jelly chopped.

MISCELLANEOUS RECIPES.

PICKLE FOR MEAT.

No. 412.

2 lb. salt. 1½ oz. saltpetre. 1 oz. brown sugar. 2 gallons water.

Boil all these together for 5 minutes, skimming well; strain the pickle into an earthenware pan. Meat can be put in as soon as the mixture is quite cold, and should remain in it for 5 or 6 days.

TO CLARIFY FAT.

No. 413.

4 lb. any kind of fat.

Water.

Different kinds of fat cooked or uncooked, veal, mutton, pork or beef may be clarified down together. Cut the fat into small pieces of one size, cover them in a large stewpan with cold water and boil briskly with the lid off the pan until all the water has boiled away, then boil more slowly and stir occasionally until the pieces frizzle up and fall to the bottom of the pan, leaving the fat clear as oil; cool a little and strain into a basin for use. When cold it should be a cake of firm, white fat, and is useful for cakes, pastry, frying, etc.

TO CLARIFY DRIPPING.

No. 414.

Take the dripping off the gravy when it is cold; scrape off it any brown sediment (which can be put into the stock pot); also take any skimmings from stocks or soups and clarify them together; cut up the dripping, cover it with cold water and boil it well for 15 minutes; strain through muslin into a basin; when cold and set take it off the water, scrape the underneath side of the cake of fat, wipe it on a clean cloth and it is ready for use. Dripping clarified in this way will keep a long time without turning rancid. In very hot weather it should be heated once a week to preserve it.

TO CLARIFY FRYING FAT.

No. 415.

When frying fat becomes too dark a colour by being over-heated, or by being used frequently for a long time, it is a good plan to boil it up occasionally as in the preceding recipe, putting a small piece of soda in as well.

TO CLARIFY BUTTER.

No. 416.

It is more economical to clarify butter in large quantities than an ounce at a time. Put the butter into a saucepan; dissolve it and then allow the water and butter milk to boil slowly away; when the bubbling ceases, skim the butter, allow the sediment to settle at the bottom of the pan, then pour off the clear fat.

TO MAKE GLAZE.

No. 417.

Take one quart of stock (No. 2); clear it from all fat; strain it through muslin and colour it with a few drops of caramel; boil the stock slowly down in a very clean saucepan, skimming away carefully all the skum as it rises; when the stock takes a thick syrupy consistence it is done; pour it into a pot and when quite cold pour over it a thick layer of clarified dripping to keep it from becoming mouldy. To dissolve it for use, clear off the fat, put the glaze in a small basin and stand the basin in hot water; do not stir the glaze or it will become cloudy.

TO MAKE CARAMEL.

No. 418.

Wet a strong iron saucepan and put into it 6 oz. Demarara sugar; place over a slow fire and burn the sugar to a dark colour, stirring it; allow to cool a little and stir in by degrees 1 gill of water; keep by the side of the fire until the sugar is quite dissolved and the caramel cool enough; bottle for use.

TO MAKE BAKING POWDER.

No. 419.

4 oz. cornflour.
2 oz. cream of tartar.

 $1\frac{1}{2}$ oz. bicarbonate of soda.

Put these twice through a wire sieve and then into an airtight tin box for use. Use half a teaspoon to half a pound of flour for pastry cakes, etc.

TO MAKE BROWN BREADCRUMBS.

No. 420.

Cut crusts and scraps of stale bread into small pieces; put them on a baking sheet in a cool oven until they are crisp and a golden colour; crush them fine with a flat iron and pass them through a fine wire sieve or strainer; keep in a jar for use.

TO MAKE WHITE BREADCRUMBS.

No. 421.

Take the crumb only of a stale loaf; pass it through a wire sieve on to a sheet of kitchen paper. If not for immediate use dry them in a cool oven, but do not discolour them. Keep in a jar for use. They may be used over and over again so long as they are sieved and dried before storing; if they are put away damp they will become mouldy in a day or so.

TO BOIL RICE FOR CURRY.

No. 422.

Use Patna rice; it is not so starchy as the Carolina. Wash it well and soak for an hour or so before cooking, as this will make it a much better colour. Have a large pan of fast boiling water in which there is a teaspoon of salt; throw in the rice; boil for 5 or 7 minutes; strain it and let cold water run through it to free the grains; put it back into the pan, crush a clean cloth down on to it and place it by the side of the fire until the rice is dry, white and quite tender.

TO BOIL MACARONI.

No. 423.

The long or Naples macaroni is the best for ordinary cooking purposes. Throw it into plenty of fast boiling salted water; boil gently and stir at first a few times to prevent its sticking to the pan. It will take an hour to cook it quite tender; some varieties may take longer. Strain and wash it under the cold water tap to make it look clear. Cut up into the desired shapes or lengths.

TO BLANCH ALMONDS.

No. 424.

Have a small saucepan of boiling water on the stove, into which put the almonds for half a minute; strain them and throw them immediately into cold water; skin them and dry on a cloth. Pistachio kernels are blanched in the same way, only they require a minute in the boiling water.

TO BLANCH BARLEY.

No. 425.

Put the barley into a saucepan; cover it with cold water and give it one good boil up; strain it and rinse with cold water.

TO CLEAN CURRANTS.

No. 426.

Currants should be washed in tepid water to soften the hard skin; the water should not be hot or it will take away some of the sweetness and colour; they may require two or three waters if they are very gritty; drain them and rub them dry on a clean cloth, which should be kept for the purpose, as the juice of the currants stains; if they are to be stored, put them spread out on a tin in the sun or in a cool oven until perfectly dry. Do sultanas in the same way.

TO CUT CANDIED PEEL.

No. 427.

Take away the hard sugar and cut the peel into strips half an inch wide, then with a sharp knife into thin shreds across. In this way it will not bake hard in cakes.

LEMON CURD.

No. 428.

2 oz. butter.
2 whites of egg.

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. castor sugar.

2 whites of egg

2 lemons.

3 yolks.

Melt the butter in an enamel pan; whisk the eggs and sugar well and add them to it, with the rind of the lemons grated and the juice strained; stand the pan in another one of boiling water; keep the mixture well stirred and boil until of the consistency of honey; cover down in a jar for use.

TOMATO SAUCE FOR WINTER USE.

No. 429.

5 lb. quite ripe English tomatoes.

1 oz. salt.

1 quart best malt vinegar.

1 oz. shalots. 1 oz. white pepper.

Stew all together, cutting the tomatoes in half, very gently until done to a soft mash, about 3 hours, and stir frequently; pass through a hair sieve with a wooden spoon; when quite cold add $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. cayenne pepper; fill some bottles and tie down with double preserving paper.

TO MAKE SAUSAGES.

No. 430.

1 lb. lean fresh pork.

½ lb. fat fresh pork.

1 tablespoon chopped sage.

½ oz. salt.

1 grated nutmeg.

6 ground cloves.

6 ground peppercorns.

4 oz. breadcrumbs.

1 gill milk.

Cut up the meat and pass it through the mincing machine twice; boil the milk; pour it over the bread; when it is well soaked squeeze it dry; mix well with the pork and seasonings; stuff into skins, which can be obtained from the butcher ready; twist off into lengths about 4 inches long, or simply form the meat into sausages; egg and crumb them and fry in hot fat.

TO FRY PARSLEY.

No. 431.

Choose the parsley fresh and green; pick it off into small sprigs after well washing it; dry it thoroughly in a cloth; put into the frying basket and plunge it into smoking fat, but not so hot as to turn it brown; shake about for about half a minute or until crisp; drain well on kitchen paper and serve it very hot.

TO CHOP PARSLEY FINE.

No. 432.

Wash the parsley; shake it dry and pick it off close to the stalks; chop it partly on a board; put it into a piece of muslin (which should be kept for the purpose) and wash it well in cold water; squeeze it very dry; put it out on a dry board again and chop it to a fine powder. Parsley prepared in this way requires scarcely any cooking and will not discolour the sauce or soup it is put into, and is pretty for garnishing.

TO SKIN TOMATOES.

No. 433.

Drop the tomatoes into boiling water for half a minute; dry them and skin immediately.

TO MAKE TOFFEE.

No. 434

 $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. Demarara sugar. 3 oz. butter.

2 tablespoons milk. 1 teacup golden syrup.

Dissolve the butter in a pan; add the sugar, milk and syrup; boil slowly 30 minutes, stirring the whole time; pour into a greased tin and before it sets too hard mark and cut into squares. Almonds may be sprinkled on the toffee while it is hot.

TO MAKE TOAST.

No. 435.

Have a clear, brisk fire. The bread should be stale and cut not thicker than a quarter of an inch; hold it some little distance from the fire on both sides until the steam has escaped; then colour it a nice brown; cut off the crusts and keep the toast standing up to keep it crisp.
